During Flight In Chester Area

Three Homes Hit By Car In Chase

A 20-year-old Wellsville resident fleeing from police Friday night struck three homes on 3rd St. Ext., Chester, before his 1960 sedan finally came to a halt.

Franklin John Conrad Jr. of 3224 Lisbon St. "ran two stop signs" on Virginia Ave. and was traveling at a speed estimated at 50 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone when Joseph Cornell, Chester patrolman, took up the pursuit.

The speeding auto first hit the porch and a mailbox at the residence of Perry Lamp, and then a city water shutoff valve. Continuing on, it ran into the corner of the resicence of Laco Swiger and a garage at the home of Isabel Moore.

Total property damage other than that to the auto was estimated at $575.

After being treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the lip, Conrad was confined in the Hancock County jail in lieu of $500 appearance bond for a hearing Monday at 11 a. m. before Squire Dick Wright of Route 30, near Chester.

The motorist was charged with reckless driving and failure to have an operator's license.

The report was timed at 10:13.

Red Chinese Easing Home Front Purge

It's Getting Out Of Hand, Peking's Official Paper Says

TOKYO (AP) — Confronted by spreading defections in Asia's Communist camp, the Chinese Reds indicated today they are easing their purge on the home front.

The official Peking People's Daily said in an editorial that the purge sweeping the mainland is an ideological political struggle and warned that it must not be resolved by force.

Moral persuasion based on superior virtue would be most effective in exposing the "ugly features of the bourgeois," the paper said.

The editorial apparently reflected a feeling among Peking's leaders that the purge has been getting out of hand. Unconfirmed reports from the Chinese capital said Premier Chou En-lai in a recent address at Peking University emphasized the need for greater leniency toward dissidents.

The appeal for a softer line appeared in the People's Daily one day after the North Korean Communist party—once a staunch supporter of Peking—announced that it is taking an independent course.

The announcement coincided with Peking's attacks on the Japanese Communist party which until recently had also backed the Chinese international line.

With the virtual elimination of the Indonesian Communist party by the military regime in Jakarta and North Viet Nam's tendency to walk a middle course between the Chinese and Soviets, the Peking party finds itself and its blood-and-violence (Turn to RED CHINA, Page 5)

Officers Are Alerted In Motorcycle Case

Police in Beaver and Allegheny counties have been placed on the alert for possible trouble as the result of the arrest of 13, including 10 from the area in the assault case involving an 18-year-old Leetsdale girl.

Following a rumor that motorcycleists from Ohio and Pennsylvania may be planning a demonstration against the arrests, Beaver County Sheriff John Hineman issued a special alert to law enforcement agencies in the county.

Between 15 and 20 deputies have been notified to be on call at all time over the weekend.

House Unit Passes Bill

Secrecy Engulfs Air Peace Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veil of secrecy dropped today over government efforts to win an airlines settlement that would save Congress the political pain of forcing the 35,400 striking mechanics back to work.

It was learned that federal officials privately prodded negotiators Friday in the hopes of getting them back to the bargaining table, but there was no hint of progress.

Unless negotiators for the five strikebound airlines and the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists reach a voluntary settlement, reluctant House members will begin deliberating next week back-to-work legislation passed by the Senate and approved by the House Commerce Committee.

The House committee voted the legislation 17 to 13 Friday, but the measure is not expected to get to the House floor until Thursday—barring special action by the Rules Committee.

Committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., predicted a "chaotic situation" when the election-minded congressmen take up a bill under which Congress would order the strikers back to work for 30 days and give President Johnson power to keep them on the job for another 150 days. "It will have an awful time in the house," the congressman said.

It is expected that efforts will be made on the House floor to amend the bill to provide for government seizure of the airlines, a move that failed in both House and Senate committees.

Meanwhile, sources said there is little hope of realistic negotiations unless the airlines boosted at least slightly the contract offer that had been rejected by the strikers in an overwhelming vote July 31.

That offer would have provided over three years an estimated package of increased wages and fringe benefits of 72 cents an hour. Top mechanics now earn $3.52 per hour plus fringe benefits.

But there are indications that negotiators for the airlines—United, Northwest, Eastern, National and Trans World—are inclined to await the outcome of the legislation before making any new contract offers.

AFL-CIO President George Meany and other labor leaders have made it clear they will view any legislation as anti-labor, a warning that will have considerable effect on the thinking of members of Congress who are up for re-election in November.

Comparative Peace Marks Rights March

Only 15 Arrested In Chicago Protest For Open Housing

CHICAGO (AP) — Civil rights leaders pondered today, with some divided opinion, the meaning of the comparatively peaceful reception given their most recent protest march for open housing.

Only 15 persons were arrested Friday afternoon as more than 500 marchers paraded through the all-white Bogan area of the Southwest Side. No serious injuries were reported.

Recent marching through the nearby Chicago Lawn neighborhood resulted in scores of arrests, injuries and property damage.

"There wasn't less animosity in Bogan just 1,000 more police," said the Rev. James Bevel, a leader of the civil rights movement and an official in Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

A police spokesman said 600 policemen guarded the line of march, but 400 additional police were standing by.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, another aide of King, agreed with Bevel that the peace was superficial.

"There was acquiescence and not peace," Jackson said. "The religious and political leaders have told their people to act tame and suppress their hate and not to let it show on their faces and in the streets."

3 Juveniles Arrested In Chester Area Theft

Three Chester area juveniles are in custody at the Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland in connection with theft of $136 and some candy Thursday night or early Friday at French's Pancake House on Route 30 near Chester, according to the Hancock County sheriff's department.

Deputies said both the cash and the candy were recovered. The establishment was burglarized shortly after being placed under the new management of Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Linn of Winterville.

Attention Brother Elks East Liverpool Lodge No. 253, B.P.O. Elks will meet Sunday evening, August 14th, at 7:40 p. m., to conduct Elks funeral services for our late Brother and Trustee, Gale W. Laughlin, Order of Exalted Ruler, Paul A. Betteridge.—Ad.

Nine Guards Injured In Prison Riot

Inmates Stab Two In Their Violent Bid To Steal Drugs

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — Inmates rioted outside a dispensary at the Massachusetts State Prison in a violent attempt to steal drugs Friday night, injuring nine guards.

Two guards were stabbed and seven others beaten as the inmates pushed their way into the "pill" room, yelling, thrashing and gobbling down as many pills as they could at one time.

A riot squad of 22 state police and guards stormed into the dispensary and quickly put down the riot.

State Police Cpl. James Dunne, who led the squad equipped with 12 gauge shotguns, gas masks and crash helmets, said about 18 of the inmates were reeling "on cloud nine" when he arrived.

The medication, which prison officials said is dispensed once daily, is kept in a locked room and handed out through a window.

Dunne said about 70 inmates were lined up for it when one unidentified prisoner insisted upon having a second packet, overturned a table at the head of the line and threatened a guard outside the room with half of a barber's shear.

When a guard inside the room attempted to aid the guard outside, the prisoners rushed inside, Dunne said.

The guards told police the inmates began screaming, shouting "yahoo," and seizing pills. "They stuffed down as many as they could at one time," one guard told state police.

Dunne said those prisoners in the line who did not attempt to steal the drugs stood back and watched or went back to their cells. The medication room is in the prison's maximum security section.

One of the guards, Thomas Perry, 45, Raynham, was stabbed in the back and knocked unconscious in the first dash for pills. John J. O'Connor, 31, Boston, also was stabbed.

The injured guards were taken to Norwood Hospital. None was reported in serious condition.

The riot squad members said that when they arrived in the dispensary, the floor was lit

Scouts Begin Trip By Canoe At Wellsville

Nine members of a Cleveland Boy Scout Explorer Post pushed off today from Wellsville for a four-day canoe trip down the Ohio River.

The seven boys and two adult supervisors of Post 566 of the Holy Cross Lutheran Church stopped at Wellsville Friday night after driving from Cleveland with their equipment.

They inquired at the fire station as to possible camping sites and were directed to Hammond Park.

They plan to travel about 20 to 25 miles a day in their four canoes. The troop originally had planned to travel as far as Marietta, but the itinerary had to be shortened because of lack of time.

One of the supervisors commented on the "friendliness of the people of Wellsville" and the help offered by members of the fire department.

Wine of Chester is shown as he received the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Clasp and an Oak Leaf Cluster "for heroism and distinguished service" while serving at an Air Force base in Viet Nam. The medal presented by Maj. Gen. Gordon H. Austin, 1st Air Force commander, in a ceremony at Stewart Air Force Base in New York, where Wine now is stationed.

A 36-year-old Chester warrant officer has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal with a "V" Clasp and an Oak Leaf Cluster for "valor in combat and intrepid action" in helping repel a Viet Cong attack on the Tan Son Nhut Airfield in Viet Nam.

The medal was presented to Chief Warrant Officer Norman D. Wine by Maj. Gen. Gordon H. Austin in a ceremony at Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh, N. Y., where he has been stationed since returning from a year's duty in the combat zone.

He is the son of Mrs. Elsie M. Wine of State Route 2, near Chester, and the husband of the former Carol Anne Richmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Richmond of Louisiana Ave., Chester. He is visiting at home this weekend and his wife and children will return to New York with him to reside on the base. They have been residing with Mrs. Wine's parents temporarily.

WINE NOW is stationed with Headquarters of the Eastern NORAD Region of the First Air Force at Stewart Field. He serves as control center training officer.

The Bronze Star with "V" Clasp was awarded to him as a result of an action last April 13 while he served with the 619th Tactical Control Squadron at Tan Son Nhut. The base was attacked by Viet Cong, firing mortars and rocket rifles.

Wine ordered the control and reporting center evacuated and remained behind to provide advisory service to aircraft in the area. He continued at his duties until his

School Officials Meet With Essex Drastic Measures Seen In Ohio Teacher Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State school officials looking for a solution to Ohio's critical teacher shortage have gotten the word from local educators that drastic measures will be needed to fill classrooms in September.

Week's Toll Of 13 Worst During War

Increases To 334 Number Lost Since North Raids Began

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. warplanes were shot down by Communist ground fire over North Viet Nam Friday, the U.S. military command announced today.

The losses raised to 13 the number of American planes downed this week, the highest weekly toll of the war.

It also boosted to 334 the total number U.S. aircraft reported lost over North Viet Nam since the air war began over the north.

An Air Force release said "two Air Force crews were downed by ground fire." There was no immediate explanation for the reference to crews, but a spokesman said the release obviously meant that two planes were lost.

The communique identified the planes as an F105 Thunderchief and an RF101 Voodoo reconnaissance plane. The crews were listed as missing.

North Viet Nam had claimed that six U.S. aircraft were shot down and "several air pirates captured."

The worst previous toll of American planes for a single week was 11 during the week of July 17-23.

Earlier, it was announced that a flight of U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs tangled with two Communist MIG17s Friday.

Air Force and Navy pilots said eight Soviet-built ground-to-air missiles were fired at them, but a spokesman said there was no indication any hit the American planes.

Both of the MIGs and one of the Thunderchiefs were damaged in the four-minute air battle.

The MIGs damaged were credited to Air Force Capt. Norman L. Wells, 33, Unionville, Va., and Capt. Richard E. Steere, 33, Inglewood, Calif.

The MIGs jumped the Thunderchiefs about 45 miles north-west of Hanoi while the American planes were flying cover for a downed pilot, the spokesman said.

The MIG's broke off the encounter. It was the first time since July 24 that U.S. planes had encountered Communist aircraft.

The flight was one of a number that attacked oil storage facilities and supply lines in the north.

In the ground war, little contact with the enemy was reported.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, returning home from a three-day state visit to the Philippines, told newsmen he thought the North Vietnamese would accept defeat within the next two or (Turn to VIET NAM, Page 7)

Hailed As Savior Of Peace

East Berlin Celebrates 5th Anniversary Of Wall

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany celebrated today the fifth anniversary of the erection of the Berlin Wall, hailing it as a savior of the peace.

But West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt denounced the celebration as "perverse," and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard predicted that "the wall of shame" would tumble in ruins with the eventual reunification of Germany.

A parade through East Berlin by paramilitary units, a rally and a speech by Walter Ulbricht, head of the Communist government, topped the program for the celebration.

The Communists this year are drawing attention to the wall for the first time and claiming it represents a victory and a success for the Ulbricht regime.

East Berliners have been urged to participate in the rally to show their support "on the fifth anniversary of securing the border in face of aggressive policies of militaristic West Germany."

The wall was constructed at a time when hundreds of persons were fleeing every week from the Communist zone of Germany to the west across the open border in Berlin. Many were skilled workers and highly trained professional people whom the Communist government could ill afford to lose.

With the erection of the wall, the refugee flow was cut to a trickle.

In a radio and television speech Friday night, Brandt attacked the Communists for making a celebration "out of the deep wounds of our people."

On Weeds, Junked Autos

Two long - heralded ordinances providing for strict controls on junk cars abandoned on the streets and weeds and grass growing to great heights on vacant lots and other places are scheduled to be considered by City Council at its first August meeting Monday night at 8.

The need for such legislation has been discussed from time to time in Council for several years. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper has prepared legislation for consideration at the session Monday. It is patterned in part on controls used in other Ohio communities.

One section of the weed control legislation stipulates that no owner, lessee or tenant of any piece of property may allow grass or weeds to attain a height greater than 18 inches. It provides a fine of up to $50 for a violation.

Another section provides that when Council receives information that noxious weeds are growing on a piece of property "and are about to spread and mature seeds," Council will serve a written notice on the person responsible for the land, requiring him to destroy the vegetation within five days.

If the owner or person in charge of the property cannot be located, Council may give notice by publishing the details in any newspaper of general circulation, it provides.

If the person in charge of the property fails to cut the weeds, Council may have the work performed and reimburse the crew out of city funds, the legislation says. Then Council will file a written notice with the county auditor's office to collect the charges as a lien against the real estate, the legislation says.

When the county collects the money, it will go into the city treasury as reimbursement for the work, the ordinance says.

The ordinance carries an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect immediately after it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw. Without an emergency clause, there would be a 30-day wait before it became effective.

Any car not in running condition and not in the process of being reconditioned must be towed away after it has remained on a public street 30 days or more, the "junker" control legislation provides.

The ordinance sets a penalty of up to $50 for the first violation. For subsequent offenses by the same individual or firm, the penalty may range up to $500, it provides.

The legislation provides that the owner of an abandoned car will be given a 10-day notice by the city ordering him to remove the auto. If the owner fails to comply, he will be charged with a violation, the legislation provides.

The legislation does not apply to junk or junked cars in any regularly established scrap yards, it provides.

It includes a specific definition of the term "junk car." The legislation says: "A junk car is any used car or motor vehicle not in the process of reconditioning which has been abandoned for use as a motor vehicle on a public highway and which is in unsafe operating condition and shall have remained in such condition for a period in excess of 30 days."

The ordinance also covers portions of autos such as hoods, fenders, radiators, rims and motors not being utilized for repair of a motor vehicle. It also contains an emergency clause.

Third Suspect
Taken To Jail
For Burglary

LISBON — Phillip Sole, 31, of Wellsville R.D., is in Columbiana County Jail in lieu of $1,500 bond set Friday by Judge Herbert Arfman of Eastern County Court at East Palestine.

Arrested Thursday evening by the sheriff's department, Sole is the third man accused of a Tuesday morning burglary at Brookside Tavern on Route 7 at Williamsport.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan said Sole turned himself in to Wellsville police with the explanation he heard the sheriff was looking for him.

The court set Sole's preliminary hearing for next Thursday. He had no counsel when taken before Judge Arfman yesterday and said he had no money to employ a lawyer. Common Pleas Court appointed Lawrence W. Smith of East Liverpool to represent him.

Floyd W. McWilliams, 53, and Raymond C. McWilliams, 39, brothers from McDonald Heights, Wellsville, pleaded not guilty to the same charge Thursday in Eastern Court and were bound over to the September Grand Jury. They are in jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Weirton Steel
To Use Water
'Closed Loop'

WEIRTON — One of the newest approaches by the steel industry toward improving present practices of use and disposal of water is known as the "closed loop" system, which permits repeated use of water for cooling and scale removal.

The "Mill of the Future" at the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp. will have such a "built-in" pollution control system, it has been announced by C. G. Tournay, president.

Principal advantage of the "closed loop" system is that it greatly reduces water requirements for mill operations, which in turn reduces the amount of treated water returned to the Ohio River.

Tournay said the "Mill of the Future" normally would require approximately 50 million gallons of water each day for cooling and scale removal, but installation of the "closed loop" system will permit recirculation of water to the extent that the new mill's requirements will be only 5 million gallons each day.

The relatively small amount of water then will be returned to the river clean enough to meet the most stringent water standards. The equipment for the "closed loop" system is very complex, and represents an investment of substantial size.

tered with empty paper cups, pills, water and paper.

Frederick Butterworth, deputy superintendent of the prison, was the first law enforcement official in the dispensary after the inmates took control of it.

He said he calmly told them, "This is foolish, now line up and move back to your cells."

"The combination of his advice and the show of force seemed to convince them to obey," Dunne said.

The prison is located on a rural site about 25 miles southwest of Boston.

State Rep. John J. Conte, chairman of a special legislative commission investigating the use of drugs in state institutions, hurried to the scene.

He said, "The looseness of the method with which drugs are dispensed at the prison must be curtailed."

Prison Supt. Plamer C. Scafi said: "There may have been some barbiturates handed out." Most of the medicine, however, might be routinely bought at a drug store, such as aspirin, he said.

Last November — during the Northeast power blackout — inmates of the same prison rampaged for four hours.

Man Wounds
Four Before
Being Slain

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — According to his wife, Joseph Davis wasn't a violent man. But about noon Friday he burst into the lunch room of a factory and wounded four persons with a gun before police killed him.

The 51-year-old Negro had been fired from his job earlier in the week at the Winchester Western Division of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Police said he was being sought for questioning in the meat-cleaver slaying of Rebecca Wilson when he went on the shooting rampage.

Mrs. Wilson, 34, who worked with Davis at the factory, was married and the mother of four. Her body was found in a wooded lover's lane. Police said she and Davis had been seeing each other.

Seriously injured in the shooting were Helen Koch, 51, a secretary.

Jonathan Miller, a research technician, was treated and released for a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Also treated and released were Miriam Chernoff, a secretary, and Eunice Connor, a librarian's assistant, both wounded in the shoulder and wrist.

Police said a group of workers was having lunch when Davis ran into the room, firing a pistol. Police were called to the scene.

A detective who knew Davis asked him to give himself up. Davis answered by firing a shot in his direction. Police opened fire, and Davis fell dead with the first volley of shots.

Police had no explanation for the incident. Neither had Davis' wife.

"We'd been married for 23 years," she said. "That's a long time. You get to know somebody pretty good when you've lived with them that long."

"He never drank and, so far as I know, he never carried a gun or anything like that. He didn't like violence. He never liked fighting or trouble."

Planning Unit
Given Praise

LISBON — The new director of the Columbiana County Regional Planning Commission has praise for the quality of work done by the unit since county commissioners created it in 1964.

Speaking before the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Eagles Home, James L. Morrissey of Lisbon said:

"For the past two years, the commission has been ferreting out and developing basic statistics for the plan. These efforts are the first important phase. It is felt — it is obvious — that a high order of work has been done."

Morrissey said the work accomplished is due to the progressive thinking of the various committees working under the direction of President Floyd Lower of Lisbon and to the interest shown by the county commissioners.

Statistics already completed will serve as guides for the subsequent development of future land use, community facilities, public utilities, parks and recreation and traffic plans, he said.

"They also will provide the general framework for a capacity development to 300,000 persons by 1985," he added.

Morrissey began work July 1 at the Commission office in the Farmers National Bank building here. He said the planning process, simply put, consists of four steps — "what is, what could be, what should be, and action."

Slayers Of 3 London Police Being Hunted

LONDON (AP) — Arms and tear gas were issued to some of London's 18,000 police today as they hunted for the men who gunned down three unarmed policemen Friday on a West End street.

Only in exceptional cases are arms issued to British police. Police were warned the killers probably would not hesitate to kill again. Investigators were warned not to work alone.

The victims, gunned down opposite a park where several children were playing, were riding in an unmarked car, used in patrol and undercover work.

A 10-year-old boy who witnessed the shooting told Scotland Yard officials a fat man with a black beard shot at one of the victims, chased him, knocked him to the ground and shot him.

"Then the man with the black beard got into the police car and drove over the man in the road. I ran away because I was frightened. As I ran I heard several more shots," the boy said.

The policemen had stopped their car near Wormwood Scrubs Prison to question three or four men in a parked auto. Why they wanted to question the men may never be known.

"Only three men know the full story — and they are dead. But they must have had a reason," a Scotland Yard spokesman said.

He gave this account:

As Detective Sgt. Christopher Tippet Head, 30, walked toward the parked car he was shot through the head and fell to the roadway. Detective Constable David Wombwell, 25, father of two, was shot through the heart as he went to Head's aid.

Constable Geoffrey Fox, 41, driver of the car and father of three, was shot as he drove the car at one of the gunmen. Fox's body was pushed from behind the steering wheel before one of the attackers drove the car over one of the policemen in the street.

Armed police, furnished with a description of the car and its license number, surrounded a house in North London Friday night and took a onetime owner of the car in for questioning. He said he had sold the car about a year ago to a mechanic. The mechanic had sold it to someone else.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Mom had a birthday yesterday and my brother and I put our money together and bought her a beautiful orchid. (I'm 14 and my brother is 12.)

When Mom came home the box with the orchid in it was on her dinner plate. We both stood in the doorway watching her because we thought we would see her face light up with joy.

Instead, she hollered, "You kids must be crazy to spend money on such foolishness. Where in the world am I going to wear this orchid? To the supermarket?"

My brother and I were so disappointed we nearly cried. We happen to know that Mom never has had an orchid corsage in her whole life and we wanted to give her one.

Do you think we were foolish? Please print your letter and your answer.—WRONG GIFT.

Dear Brother and Sister: The gift was lovely, and I'm sure deep down your mother appreciated it. But she also is a very practical person and when she saw the orchid she thought of a few things she needed more—probably things for you kids.

Show her this column and I'll bet she'll admit I'm right. You sound like wonderful children. Your mother should be terribly proud of you, and I'm sure she is.

Motor Moron?

Dear Ann: I'm a 40-year old woman who feels as if she is the next thing to a three-headed freak in a circus. Why? Because I don't drive a car.

My children make me feel guilty because I can't drive them to music lessons, scout meetings, downtown, movies and to the homes of friends who have swimming pools.

I took driver training a few years ago but I was sick with fright and had to go on tranquilizers. Last night my husband said, "You can learn to drive if you set your mind to it. I know dozens of morons who drive."

Is he right? Please comment.—BRANLEN WIFE.

Dear Wife: Your husband's estimate is low. If you don't believe me talk to any traffic officer.

You probably have a psychological block caused by a long-forgotten incident which terrified you early in your life.

Your problem has nothing to do with your IQ—it is emotional. So stop feeling inferior.

Sleeper Play

Dear Ann: Recently I read a letter in your column from a woman who was mad at her husband because he got to the paper first and drew mustaches on all the faces and put pipes in all the mouths.

You said to buy two papers. Why cater to the idiot? Wouldn't it be better to buy the big baby a coloring book and a set of crayons?

Now, here's my problem: My old man divides our paper when it comes. He takes Ann Landers and the financial page.

The idea is that we are supposed to trade. But we never get that far. He finishes first and puts the paper over his face and falls asleep. I'm afraid to take the paper off his face because he wakes up and gets mad.

So—Ann Landers, what's the solution?—HALVESIES.

Dear Halvesies: The solution is the same as for the creep who draws the mustaches and pipes. Buy two papers—one to read and one for "Sleeping Beauty" to snooze under.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fred Robbins Promoted By Corporation

Fred A. Robbins, formerly of Midland, has been named president of the newly created Gasket Division of the McCord Corp., with headquarters in Detroit.

McCord is a major manufacturer of automotive parts and accessories and is one of the nation's oldest and largest producers of automotive gaskets.

Robbins has been director of research for the Advanced Products Division of the White Motors Corp. in Torrance, Calif., the last two years. He will make his new headquarters at the McCord gasket plant in Wyandotte, Mich.

Robbins is a graduate of Midland High School and Purdue University. His father, the late Edward A. Robbins, was editor of the Midland News some years ago.

East End Woman Injured In Crash

Mrs. Catherine Galeoti of 525 1st Ave. was examined and released at City Hospital Friday night at 7:45 for injuries suffered in a two-way collision at Macrum St. and Dewey Ave. in Liverpool Township.

The hospital said Mrs. Galeoti, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Frank Galeoti, was X-rayed for contusions of the left arm and chest.

Constable Gene Gilbert of Liverpool Township said Galeoti's auto crashed a stop sign and struck another auto. Accused of ignoring a stop sign, Galeoti is due for a hearing Monday morning in Municipal Court, the constable said.

Monday Hearing Set In Accident

Lewis Ancrile of 424 Midland Ave., Midland, faces a hearing Monday before Squire Dick Wright of Route 30, near Chester, after being charged by Hancock County sheriff's deputies with leaving the scene of an accident which occurred shortly before midnight Thursday.

Ancrile was identified as the driver of the 1959 auto which had crashed on Route 30 near the intersection of State Route 2 and which had been vacated alongside the road.

Lewis and Rose Ancrile were listed as the owners of the vehicle.

The hearing Monday has been set for 7:30 p. m.

St. Clair Attack Hurts Hancock Resident, 48

A 48-year-old Hancock County man was treated at City Hospital early today for injuries suffered in an alleged attack on St. Clair Ave., police reported.

Dorman Adams of New Cumberland suffered lacerations above the right eye and the left side of the head. He told officers he was attacked and kicked.

Adams was brought to headquarters about 2:39 a.m. by an unidentified motorist, officers said. Then Patrolman David Mumaw removed him to the hospital in a cruiser for treatment, officers said. Adams named his attacker, but no charges were filed immediately.

Climax Of St. Rocco Festival

Giant Fireworks Display Set At Wellsville Tonight

Wellsville's annual St. Rocco Festival, sponsored by Knights of Columbus Council 507, will be climaxed tonight by a giant fireworks display at 10:30 at Central Park.

The 45-minute show will be presented by the Zambelli Fireworks Co. of New Castle. It will include both aerial and ground works.

The firm presented fireworks displays for the late President John F. Kennedy at the White House July 4, 1963, and for President Johnson June 21 this year. Ten years ago it presented a display at the Washington Monument and now presents the show there every year.

The festival includes rides and concessions. Any invalid who may be bothered by the fireworks and would like to be moved from the area during the fireworks may contact Frank Roberts at 532-2007 or William Cataldo at 532-1858.

The festival will close with Solemn High Mass Sunday at 11 a. m. at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. Fr. James Cavanaugh will be the celebrant, assisted by the Rev. Charles Crumley of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary of Norwood, who will serve as deacon, and James Hoffman of the seminary, sub-deacon.

Following the mass, the benediction of the blessed sacrament will be held.

Racial

Raby, of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations, expressed another view.

"The educational process has begun in the community. The civil, church and political leaders in the area have been working quite hard with good results."

He also said effective police work prevented major incidents.

The marchers, about half of them white, stopped briefly at three closed real estate offices on their way.

They sang and prayed during their stops while white crowd heckled. At the height of the demonstration, an estimated 1,000 whites lined the streets.

Many followed the marchers but were kept from them by a rear guard of policemen. Police men also cleared the sidewalks ahead of the marchers.

A few stones were thrown. Police used a sound truck to ask residents to stay away from the demonstration area. Many residents continued to mow their lawns and work in their gardens as the marchers passed.

Elsewhere on the racial scene: In Detroit, gunfire from a passing car shattered the window of a dry-cleaning store in a racially mixed neighborhood where racial violence erupted earlier in the week.

Witnesses said the shots were fired by a lone Negro. No one was reported hurt.

Unusually heavy police detachments were assigned to patrol the city, especially the explosive East Side.

Gamba in West Africa is only about four-fifths the size of Connecticut.

Members of the city government and representatives of labor, political and civic groups arranged to place dozens of wreaths along the wall as memorials to the 58 persons known to have been killed while trying to flee to West Berlin.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Mom had a birthday yesterday and my brother and I put our money together and bought her a beautiful orchid. (I'm 14 and my brother is 12.)

When Mom came home the box with the orchid in it was on her dinner plate. We both stood in the doorway watching her because we thought we would see her face light up with joy. Instead, she hollered, "You kids must be crazy to spend money on such foolishness. Where in the world am I going to wear this orchid? To the supermarket?"

My brother and I were so disappointed we nearly cried. We happen to know that Mom never has had an orchid corsage in her whole life and we wanted to give her one.

Do you think we were foolish? Please print your letter and your answer.—WRONG GIFT.

Dear Brother and Sister: The gift was lovely, and I'm sure deep down your mother appreciated it. But she also is a very practical person and when she saw the orchid she thought of a few things she needed more—probably things for you kids.

Show her this column and I'll bet she'll admit I'm right. You sound like wonderful children. Your mother should be terribly proud of you, and I'm sure she is.

Motor Moron?

Dear Ann: I'm a 40-year old woman who feels as if she is the next thing to a three-headed freak in a circus. Why? Because I don't drive a car.

My children make me feel guilty because I can't drive them to music lessons, scout meetings, downtown, movies and to the homes of friends who have swimming pools.

I took driver training a few years ago but I was sick with fright and had to go on tranquilizers. Last night my husband said, "You can learn to drive if you set your mind to it. I know dozens of morons who drive."

Is he right? Please comment.—BRANLEN WIFE

Dear Wife: Your husband's estimate is low. If you don't believe me talk to any traffic officer.

You probably have a psychological block caused by a long-forgotten incident which terrified you early in your life.

Your problem has nothing to do with your IQ—it is emotional. So stop feeling inferior.

Sleeper Play

The idea is that we are supposed to trade. But we never get that far. He finishes first and puts the paper over his face and falls asleep. I'm afraid to take the paper off his face because he wakes up and gets mad.

So—Ann Landers, what's the solution?—HALVESIES.

Dear Halvesies: The solution is the same as for the creep who draws the mustaches and pipes. Buy two papers—one to read and one for "Sleeping Beauty" to snooze under.

Not A Matter Of Conviction

North Korea's decision to strike out on its own, severing its ideological ties with both the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the Chinese People's Republic, strengthens an impression of Asiatic political ferment.

There can be no doubt any longer that the politicians who stake their political fortunes and even their lives on making the right guess are putting a safe distance between themselves and Chinese Communism.

Communism is in bad repute in the Republic of Indonesia.

The Republic of India has severed its once close ties with Chinese Communism.

All of Southeast Asia has been witnessing an object lesson in the complications that grow out of Communist infiltration.

IN EUROPE it is plainer than it ever was before why Marshal Tito's decision to make Yugoslavia independent of Kremlin dictation is rampant in Southeastern Europe.

Communism is having hard going in Africa. Its zealots are learning that Latin American politics can be just as tempestuous for Communists as it ever was for U.S. dollar diplomats, Spanish aristocrats and homegrown despots.

As has been pointed out tirelessly by political philosophers, Communism never has been able to win the confidence of the masses. Communists preach and organize revolutions to overthrow regimes that have become intolerable as the ones they overthrow.

The Communist doctrine of a permanent rule of the proletariat turns into the political practice of despotism under the aegis of Marxism.

THE SPREAD of Communism since the Russian revolution in 1917 has not been a matter of conviction among the hundreds of millions of people nominally living under Marxism. It has been, rather, a reaction from centuries of heavy-handed rule—a jumping from a political frying pan into a political fire.

It now is undergoing the inevitable change that is the only unchanging thing in politics. Russia and China have changed, too. The balance of international power politics has been changing.

Great Britain is now Britain; the sun has set on the British Empire.

France has tired of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The United States has had grave trouble establishing its security against the threat of Communist influence in Latin America.

North Korea would not have been designated as the likeliest place for the next breakaway from the Communist "axis"—but that is where the lightning happens to have struck.

The potential outbreaks of violence on the Korean front, confronting the United States with two wars in Asia, now must be discounted.

North Korea on its own must hope the United States will be able to do in South Viet Nam what it did in South Korea—stop the Communists in their tracks.

Twelve members of Columbiana County 4-H clubs have their eyes on competition at the Ohio State Fair as the result of having been named winners during the annual "Selection Day" at Lisbon.

They will be following in the footsteps of many others who have sought honors on a statewide level.

One can have only admiration for these youngsters. Win or lose at Columbus, they have played the 4-H game to the fullest. Their achievements to date have been sufficient to bring them deserving recognition. Any Ohio honors that come their way will be only added glory.

They're a good group and we wish them well.

Riot Inquiry By Congress

U.S. Rep. Michael A. Feighan of Ohio's 20th district is pressing for a congressional investigation of urban race riots. A Cuyahoga Grand Jury report citing names, dates and circumstances as evidence of conspiracy behind the Hough area riots in Cleveland will add force to his request, which has been put before the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Rep. Feighan is the ranking Democrat below Rep. Celler. His request for an investigation is backed by Rep. William M. McCulloch of Piqua, O., the ranking Republican member of the committee.

If there is a conspiratorial pattern in urban race riots, it should be held up to public view. A ticklish issue is involved, because it cannot be doubted that some ill-wishers would like to make it appear that urban Negroes are incapable of resisting the plotting of conspirators; that they never would have dreamed of misbehaving if they had not been misled by subversives of one kind or another.

The fact is, the overwhelming majority of Negroes in cities that have had riots did not dream of misbehaving. They resented the riots.

They were not happy with the ghetto conditions they had to endure, but violence was not their way to show how they felt. They realized that violence would handicap their effort to improve conditions, because it would generate resistance to demands for improvement at the same time it was bringing need for improvement to public attention.

A congressional investigation to establish just how much conspiratorial effort has gone into urban riots would have to precede passage of federal laws to deal with the conspirators. An investigation also would establish just how much effort may be going into an attempt to blame on conspirators something that also must be blamed on dirty urban politics, urban neglect and exploitation of human poverty for profit.

A Costly Lesson

Disgusting, sickening and difficult to understand was the episode in which a Pittsburgh area girl told of being assaulted by a group of motorcyclists who call themselves the "Chain Gang."

The situation strikes close to home due to the fact that a Columbiana County resident and several from neighboring Beaver County have been implicated in the case.

The ultimate outcome is now up to the courts. Regardless of what happens in a legal sense, there is a lesson to be learned that could prevent other girls from finding themselves in a similar predicament.

It's this: Be careful of the company you keep! If you associate with those who have trouble written all over them, you are asking for trouble yourself.

Romance On The Potomac

There already must have come a day when leading unionists wondered how long it would be until the administration of Lyndon B. Johnson had an open break with organized labor.

Historically, there has been no such thing as a permanent alliance between organized labor and a political party.

There are irreconcilable differences in their interests. The reasons are obvious.

Organized labor is a minority. A political party gets into power by winning a mandate from a majority. It must hold majority confidence.

Thus, a political party in power must expect sooner or later to be forced to carry water on both shoulders, if the interests of the majority do not coincide with the interests of the minority.

AMERICANS who remember how John L. Lewis turned against the Roosevelt administration and James R. Hoffa tried to bargain for political advantage when his union was expelled from the AFL-CIO would not be surprised if President Johnson learned about union dissidence the hard way, too.

They would be no more surprised at this than they were when President Eisenhower learned in 1953 that his new secretary of labor, Martin P. Durkin, was walking out on him because the Eisenhower administration was showing no interest in emasculating the Taft-Hartley Act. This would have been an affront to the majority of Americans—a minority pressure play.

Mr. Durkin was only one illustration of the accuracy of Samuel Gompers' thesis that politicians and trade unionists, like oil and water, do not mix.

The founder of trade unionism in this country said politicians were interested only in their game, which was getting elected and staying elected, while unionists were interested only in employment at high wages. The two interests were not always compatible.

WHEN THEY weren't compatible, politicians would turn against unionists. Therefore, reasoned Gompers, unionists should never form alliances with political parties. They should bargain with both parties for what they wanted, playing off one party against the other.

Does organized labor love Lyndon Johnson?

Does Lyndon Johnson love organized labor?

Tune in next year and the year after to see the future installments of this exciting story of romance on the Potomac.

Letters From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

This is being written in the middle of a big city the likes of which you have sometimes described as a jungle, wilderness or wasteland.

But there are still just plain people here, and some are frowning and some smiling, just like any place else.

The hope is that this will reach you by carrier pigeon, courier or wagon train, eventually.

They even have newspapers here which are quite similar to the ones you see wherever you are.

For instance, there was a story in a newspaper about how scientists are studying lemurs, ancestors of apes, to see how their social life compares to ours today. It compared favorably, according to the researchers.

ANOTHER newspaper story was about how archeologists in Enkland have found what they believe was the castle Camelot of the legendary King Arthur. Of course if he lived at all he lived quite awhile later than the femurs.

You have made some passing references to being related to ancient Britons, but I don't recall your ever claiming King Arthur as a forebear. You may enlighten us on that sometime if you feel like it.

If you are hard up for something to worry about, there is talk here that the Eskimos in Alaska are organizing. That might furrow your brow for a day or two if you give it concentrated consideration.

The Eskimos want the land they have lived on all these centuries, but other people think the land may contain untold treasure in oil and minerals, which puts a different aspect on the problem.

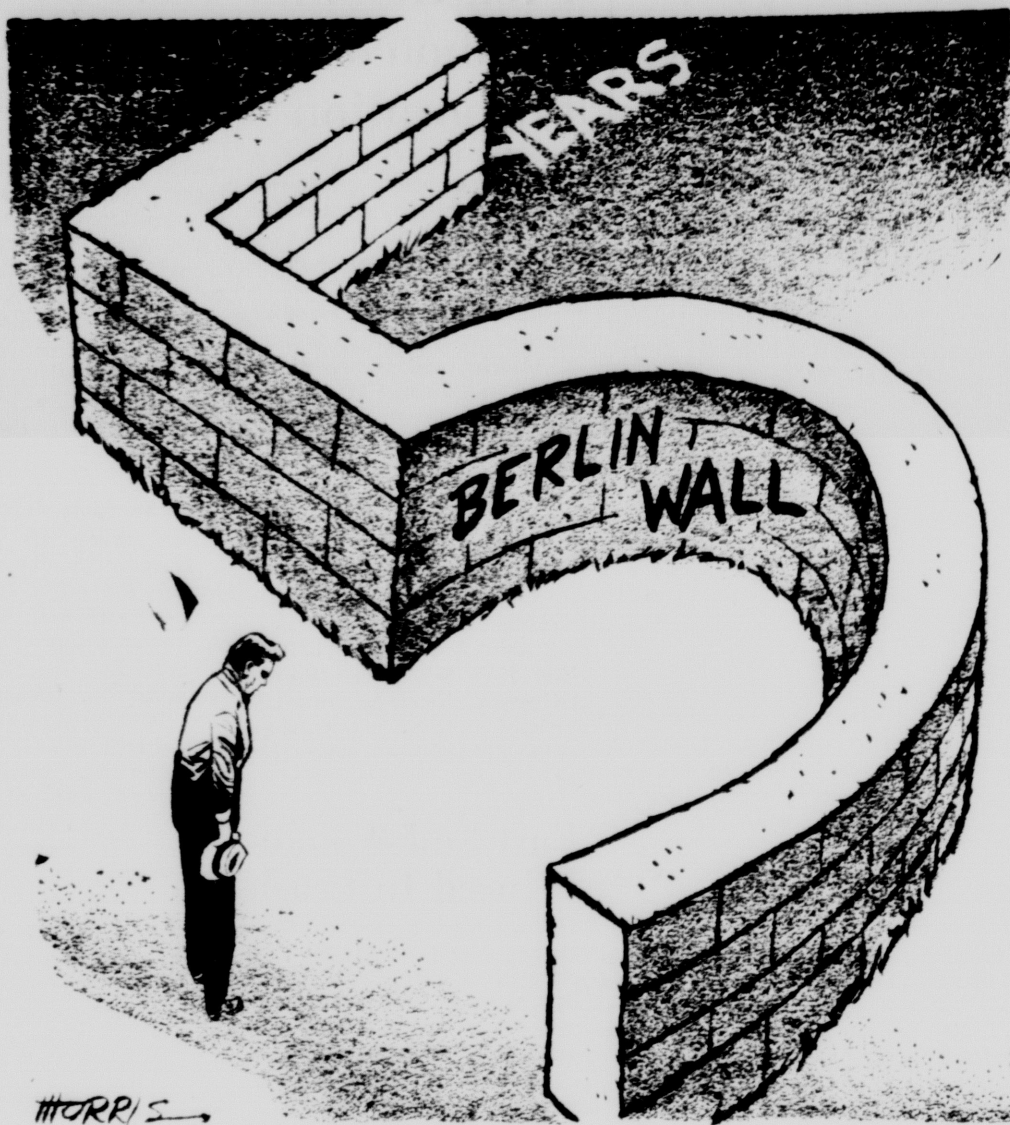

To get back to the Big City again, I met a captain from the Brazilian Army. He can get by well on his use of the English language, but he gave up on trying to learn to say "I can lick my weight in wildcats." Maybe it was just as well.

Faithfully yours,

Meddlers In U.S. Education

By Raymond Moley

President Eisenhower's farewell address three days before he left office in 1961, like that of his greatest predecessor, George Washington, was a solemn warning to all Americans. Washington spoke against entangling relationships with foreign nations as a peril to the liberties of Americans and to the independence of the republic. Dwight D. Eisenhower warned against "unwarranted influence" by the "military-industrial complex."

He commented on the "technological revolution" which, as research becomes more "formalized, complex and costly," will be conducted by or at the direction of the federal government.

He might have added that the federal government has as its partner and collaborator in this process the big industries which find the federal government their biggest customer.

IN THE LIGHT of what has happened since the Johnson administration's program was adopted, Mr. Eisenhower's reference to education is highly significant.

"Today, the solitary inventor, tinkering in his shop, has been overshadowed by task forces of scientists in laboratories and testing fields."

In the same fashion, the free university, historically the fountainhead of free ideas and scientific discovery, has experienced a revolution in the conduct of research. Partly because of the huge costs involved, a government contract becomes virtually a substitute for intellectual curiosity. For every old blackboard there are now hundreds of new electronic computers.

"The prospect of domination of the nation's scholars by federal employment, project allocations and the power of money is ever present—and is gravely to be regarded."

In June there was held in Arlington, Va., a conference on "Engineering Systems For Education and Training." The sponsors of this conference were the Department of Defense, the U.S. Office of Education (hereinafter called, according to Washington jargon, USOE) and the National Security Industrial Association. The latter is a private association to facilitate communications between private contractors and the military services. Among the invited guests were representatives of the electronic industries and the press.

The subject of discussion was education, but among those absent were most of those in whose hands there is vested by law the real conduct of public education in the states and cities and towns of the nation. Nobody was there to speak in behalf of the Chief State School Officers or the National School Boards Association.

IT WAS MOST IRONICAL that the National Education Association was not heard. Thus the NEA, which worked so hard for federal aid to education, now finds that after what it wanted has been gained it isn't needed for planning what is to be done with the money.

State and local school authorities are bypassed in the "poverty" program and in the disposition of federal aid to elementary and secondary schools. The White House educational conferences and bill-signings by the President ignored local school boards. The briefing conference in June added point to the disappearance of state and local school control.

The great power structure now looming as the master over our schools and our children who attend them is comprised of the USOE, the Department of Defense, the big corporations with defense contracts, the big foundations.

A NEW AGENCY has been formed by Time, Inc., and the General Electric Company called General Learning, Inc. At its head is Francis Keppel, formerly U.S. commissioner of education who directed the fight for federal aid to education.

Keppel's subordinate in USOE, F.A.J. Tanni, is now working for Keppel in General Learning, Inc. Another former staff member of USOE, John Naisbitt, has been named president of IBM's Science Research Associates which produces computer tests and various teaching machines. Other federal education experts are reported to be transferring to private firms which want a part in the new "teaching hardware" business.

Speaker after speaker at the June conference spoke the jargon of the new mass machine-made operation of our schools—"motivational conditioning," "computerized storage of knowledge," and so on.

The facts necessary for a child's education will be determined by the USOE bureaucrats, put into machines made by corporations selected by the USOE and jammed into the heads of millions of school children.

The dire threat of which Mr. Eisenhower warned is now becoming a reality. The old educator's "occupation's gone."

Power Blocs

By David Lawrence

The Rights Of The Citizens

"Arrogance of power" got into the headlines recently in a debate on foreign affairs. Now the phrase seems to have emerged as more descriptive perhaps of the irresponsibility of a power bloc in domestic affairs.

Not only is an airline union involved in defying the public interest, but the AFL-CIO, which has a membership of approximately 13 million, is being placed by its leaders in the position of threatening reprisals if members of Congress dare to pass legislation to end the strike.

There are at least 100 million Americans of voting age, however, who can elect a Congress to fulfill their wishes if the labor unions succeed in frightening a majority of the present Congress into submission.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, on Wednesday warned Congress at a news conference: "Do not legislate against the right of free Americans." This, he promptly added, was not to be interpreted as a threat against the political future of individual members, but he went on to point out nevertheless that Congress would regret any back-to-work law it may pass.

Apparently, moreover, Mr. Meany feels that President Johnson is on labor's side. The AFL-CIO leader said:

"I don't know how the Johnson administration could have handled the situation any better. The administration has not been asking for legislation the Congress initiates."

ALMOST EVERYBODY on Capitol Hill knows that the President has sought to give the impression of a reluctant chief executive who would prefer not to recommend any law that would compel the Machinists to go back to work but the chairman of the House Committee on Commerce, Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., has insisted on finding out whether the airline union would really go back to work if no law were passed. Mr. Meany said:

"Get rid of congressional action, and the airlines will settle pretty damn quick."

So Chairman Staggers has proposed a settlement through binding arbitration, but says he will continue studying the legislation in committee until arrangements to resume work are finalized. Meanwhile, he has urged the head of the Machinists union to ask the membership to agree to arbitrate any points left unresolved by further negotiations. At first, P. L. Siemiller, president of the Machinists union, told the House committee he would recommend the plan to the 35,400 strikers and would advise them it was much better than legislation by Congress. Later, however, as he learned about some vehement criticism from local union leaders, he seemed to back down. He began to intimate that perhaps the members would reject the proposal.

IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS the results of a canvass of sentiment in the Machinists union may become available. If the plan is rejected, the House probably will adopt a motion embodying the back-to-work bill that has already passed the Senate.

Even this gives no assurance that the strike will be settled except for a few weeks, during which time further negotiations will be dragging along. The airline employees, to be sure, would be back on their jobs, but uncertainty would be created as to how soon another interruption might come after the "cooling-off" period covered by the new legislation expires.

The Machinists union has nothing to lose by letting the situation develop this week to a point where a back-to-work law will inevitably be passed. The negotiations would, from their standpoint, certainly lead to some improvement of the one hitherto made by the airlines.

There is one risk for the union, of course, and that is the passage later of another law, even more stringent, which would specify compulsory arbitration as a legal obligation when management and the unions hereafter come to a stalemate in their negotiations, and a strike is threatened.

Surely "arrogance of power" by a single group or bloc or segment of the electorate isn't going to be tolerated. The 100 million citizens—if they are effectively organized—can insist that their rights are more vital than those of the other 13 million whose leaders claim that the right to strike is unlimited even though irreparable harm may continue to be inflicted under the slogan of "freedom to strike."

Not A Matter Of Conviction

North Korea's decision to strike out on its own, severing its ideological ties with both the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the Chinese People's Republic, strengthens an impression of Asiatic political ferment.

There can be no doubt any longer that the politicians who stake their political fortunes and even their lives on making the right guess are putting a safe distance between themselves and Chinese Communism.

Communism is in bad repute in the Republic of Indonesia.

The Republic of India has severed its once close ties with Chinese Communism.

All of Southeast Asia has been witnessing an object lesson in the complications that grow out of Communist infiltration.

IN EUROPE it is plain that it ever was before why Marshal Tito's decision to make Yugoslavia independent of Kremlin dictation is rampant in Southeastern Europe.

Communism is having hard going in Africa. Its zealots are learning that Latin American politics can be just as tempestuous for Communists as it ever was for U.S. dollar diplomats, Spanish aristocrats and homegrown despots.

As has been pointed out tirelessly by political philosophers, Communism never has been able to win the confidence of the masses. Communists preach and organize revolutions to overthrow regimes that have become intolerable as the ones they overthrew.

The Communist doctrine of a permanent rule of the proletariat turns into the political practice of despotism under the aegis of Marxism.

THE SPREAD of Communism since the Russian revolution in 1917 has not been a matter of conviction among the hundreds of millions of people nominally living under Marxism. It has been, rather, a reaction from centuries of heavy-handed rule—a jumping from a political frying pan into a political fire.

It now is undergoing the inevitable change that is the only unchanging thing in politics. Russia and China have changed, too. The balance of international power politics has been changing.

Great Britain is now Britain; the sun has set on the British Empire.

France has tired of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The United States has had grave trouble establishing its security against the threat of Communist influence in Latin America.

North Korea would not have been designated as the likeliest place for the next breakaway from the Communist "axis"—but that is where the lightning happens to have struck.

The potential outbreaks of violence on the Korean front, confronting the United States with two wars in Asia, now can be discounted.

North Korea on its own must hope the United States will be able to do in South Viet Nam what it did in South Korea—stop the Communists in their tracks.

Go-Go Grandma
ALAMOGORDO, N. M. — When Mrs. Lula Hair, blonde petite mother of four and grandmother of two, decided to learn to fly, she wasted no time. She set a local record by soloing after only six hours and 40 minutes of training. Her instructor, Verol Briggs of Maner Flying Service, said the usual instruction time is 10 to 12 hours before soloing.

Q. — How can I remove paint stains from clothing?
A. — Turpentine, mineral spirits, kerosene, and ordinary cleaning fluid are all good solvents for these stains. None of these, however, is reliable if you have allowed the stains to become stale. For old paint stains, try combining equal parts of turpentine or mineral spirits and fingernail polish remover, and use this as you would cleaning fluid.

Q. — Do you have any suggestions for making draperies or curtains hang in any position or fold desired?
A. — Solid solder, in the form of wire, can be cut to the proper length and inserted into the bottom hems of your draperies or curtains. Since this soft solder wire bends and can be easily molded, it will hold your draperies or curtains in whatever fold or position suits your fancy.

Q. — How do I go about baking a strawberry - rhubarb pie?
A. — This is really just like apple pie, except that you use three cups of frozen rhubarb, just thawed, and three cups of sliced fresh strawberries. Also 3/4-cup granulated sugar, 1/4-teaspoon of salt, 1/4-teaspoon of nutmeg, 1/4-teaspoon of cinnamon, four tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of butter.

Q. — What is a good formula for furniture polish?
A. — One excellent one consists of two parts of vinegar to one part of olive oil. Put a small amount of this on a soft cloth and rub it into the wood. Brings up a nice, fresh - looking gloss.

Q. — How can I extricate a cork that has dropped inside an empty bottle?
A. — Pour enough ammonia into the bottle to float the cork and leave it there for a few days. Enough of the cork will then have been eaten away to permit its removal.

Q. — What is a good stiffening ingredient, instead of starch, to use in delicate fabrics?
A. — Some delicate fabrics won't take to the usual starching methods. For these, use granulated sugar dissolved in water, instead of starch.

Q. — How can I avoid any unpleasant odors in my kitchen drain?
A. — If you'll drop a handful of baking soda into the sink overnight, it will purify and clean that unfragrant drain.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove paint stains from clothing?

A. — Turpentine, mineral spirits, kerosene, and ordinary cleaning fluid are all good solvents for these stains. None of these, however, is reliable if you have allowed the stains to become stale. For old paint stains, try combining equal parts of turpentine or mineral spirits and fingernail polish remover, and use this as you would cleaning fluid.

Q. — Do you have any suggestions for making draperies or curtains hang in any position or fold desired?

A. — Solid solder, in the form of wire, can be cut to the proper length and inserted into the bottom hems of your draperies or curtains. Since this soft solder wire bends and can be easily molded, it will hold your draperies or curtains in whatever fold or position suits your fancy.

Q. — How do I go about baking a strawberry - rhubarb pie?

A. — This is really just like apple pie, except that you use three cups of frozen rhubarb, just thawed, and three cups of sliced fresh strawberries. Also 3/4-cup granulated sugar, 1/4-teaspoon of salt, 1/4-teaspoon of nutmeg, 1/4-teaspoon of cinnamon, four tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of butter.

Q. — What is a good formula for furniture polish?

A. — One excellent one consists of two parts of vinegar to one part of olive oil. Put a small amount of this on a soft cloth and rub it into the wood. Brings up a nice, fresh - looking gloss.

Q. — How can I extricate a cork that has dropped inside an empty bottle?

A. — Pour enough ammonia into the bottle to float the cork and leave it there for a few days. Enough of the cork will then have been eaten away to permit its removal.

Q. — What is a good stiffening ingredient, instead of starch, to use in delicate fabrics?

A. — Some delicate fabrics won't take to the usual starching methods. For these, use granulated sugar dissolved in water, instead of starch.

Q. — How can I avoid any unpleasant odors in my kitchen drain?

A. — If you'll drop a handful of baking soda into the sink overnight, it will purify and clean that unfragrant drain.

1965 was at its worst in a decade.

Essex said 12.2 per cent, or 10,545, of the state's teachers resigned last year, most to take better paying jobs in other fields or other states.

Essex said Ohio schools cannot solve their manpower problems until the state becomes competitive. "Ohio's position, unfortunately, has not been competitive for a good while," he said.

The average Ohio teacher is paid $6,350, Essex said. He listed the average salaries in nearby states as Indiana, $7,050; Michigan, $6,850; Pennsylvania, $6,410 and Kentucky, $5,430 but rapidly rising.

The state superintendent said Ohio's most critical needs are in primary grades, industrial arts, vocational education and special education.

Officials at Friday's meeting estimated that some 1,500 to 2,000 teachers are needed by September. State certification officials, however, have estimated that as many as 9,000 teachers are needed for positions now being filled by holders of temporary certificates.

YOU ALONE know the memories of a treasured past. Think what a Memorial means to your family and friends - to the casual passerby - to visitors, a century from now. All will know that you cared enough to leave the only permanent record of their existence that man can leave on the face of the earth... A Graham and Wagner Monument... a truly significant Memorial. If your family plot still lacks a Monument, we suggest you visit our display rooms, where you can actually see what you select. Our modern facilities enable us to offer estimates within any budget—large or small, and at the same time maintain the highest standard of quality—for which we are known. If, for reasons of economy or cemetery restrictions, you require a Bronze Marker, we carry a complete line, for your convenience. We also furnish transportation, if you live beyond a visit, without obligation. A simple act of attention now, can transform a barren plot to one of beauty... ever-whispering to passersby, "Someone dear lies here."

it's your Ambulance Service

Life Has Begun At 90 For Man In Wood Hobby

A former Wellsville resident, Matthew McConnell, now of Ukiah, Calif., has proven the adage "Never too old to learn" by developing a fascinating hobby.

The senior citizen, nearing 90, took up the art of woodworking, despite the fact he never had done it before. From pieces of laminated wood of an old organ and a beam of the old ceiling of the razed Presbyterian church, he has made attractive wooden articles.

He uses the power tools of his son-in-law, Richard Wise, to fashion crosses, lamps, book ends, candleholders, letter openers, paper weights, napkin holders and pieces used in the game of cribbage.

A polished cross made from the redwood beam, McConnell plans to give to the church and a slender baton fashioned from a piece of wood from the old director of the choir of the old church.

Many articles in the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wise, with whom he resides, reflect his skill.

Care Offered In Veterans' Hospital

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — You may be eligible for care in a veterans' hospital even though you have no service-connected disability.

You have these hospital privileges if you are a wartime veteran, including Korea and Viet Nam.

The 1966 law gives you these privileges also, if you've served on active duty in peace or war since Jan. 31, 1955.

There are certain restrictions. For example, veterans with service-connected disabilities have top priority for admission to veterans' hospitals.

But if you are a veteran without a service-connected disability, and you need hospitalization, you may be admitted to a Veterans Administration hospital under two conditions:

Beds are available. You sign a statement under oath that you are financially unable to defray the cost of the necessary hospital charges elsewhere.

If you sign the not-able-to-pay oath, you also may be authorized government aid for the costs of transporting you to the hospital. Except in case of emergencies, veterans eligible for transportation at Veterans Administration expense should secure prior approval.

As a patient without service-connected disabilities, you also may be eligible for some Veterans Administration before-hospitalization and after-hospitalization care as an outpatient.

Veterans who need hospitalization because of an injury or disease incurred or aggravated in line of active service have top priority for admission to Veterans Administration hospitals.

Next priority goes to veterans with service-connected disabilities who need hospitalization for some ailment not connected with their service. These veterans will be admitted as beds are available.

Eligible veterans are entitled to complete care both in VA hospitals and in some other federal hospitals. Care in non-federal hospitals may be O.K. if for service-connected disabilities.

VETERANS with service-connected disabilities are also entitled to outpatient medical service at VA field stations. This includes bandages and medicine as well as treatment.

The VA also may authorize a veteran to be treated by an approved private physician in his own home community.

If you have had war service and have a disability that prevents you from earning a living, you may be eligible for residence in a Veterans Administration residence.

This care is generally for veterans whose disability is not so severe as to require hospitalization.

Veterans receiving payment for service-connected dental problems may apply at any time and receive as many dental treatments as needed.

The Veterans Administration may provide a veteran with a prosthetic appliance needed for a service-connected disability or for a disease or disability that is aggravating a service-connected disability.

200 Pennsylvania Drivers To Have License Suspended

HARRISBURG (AP) — About 200 motorists will have their licenses suspended because they were convicted of traffic violations under Pennsylvania's new point system, reports the Bureau of Traffic Safety.

The system, which went into effect July 24, assesses points for various violations, in addition to fines. If a driver accumulates six points, he must attend a driver improvement school. If he accumulates 11 points, his license is automatically suspended.

The bureau said the 200 motorists facing suspension were convicted of exceeding the speed limits by 16 or more miles per hour. This violation carries a six-point penalty plus a mandatory suspension of 15 to 60 days.

Harry H. Brainerd, commissioner of traffic safety, said these motorists would be allowed to complete the eight-hour driver improvement course before their licenses are taken away.

The bureau, in making a progress report Friday on the first two weeks of the point system, said about 2,000 motorists were convicted of violations but that 1,500 of these were assessed five points or less.

Brainerd said the 1,500 would receive notices from the bureau warning that if they were convicted again they would have to attend one of 100 driver improvement schools being set up in the state.

He emphasized that if they failed to attend an additional five points would be added to their records, bringing the total to 11 and resulting in a 60-day suspension of operating privileges.

One point is deducted from a driver's record if he attends a school. Two points are deducted for every year he drives without a conviction.

three years and "maybe even earlier."

He also reiterated his statement that a partial withdrawal of U.S. forces in Viet Nam might be possible in two years.

"We have made a lot of progress militarily, economically and politically in the last 14 months," he said. "If we can continue this progress I believe we will be strong enough to defend ourselves."

The air action in the north Friday included a strike by Air Force jets on a fuel storage area near Quang Khe, about 20 miles north of Dong Hoi. Pilots reported heavy black smoke and numerous fires.

Navy fighter-bombers pounded fuel storage areas 13 miles northeast of Haiphong, the spokesman said, and pilots reported that one storage tank exploded and two or three others were ruptured. Large secondary fires were reported.

Air Force pilots also hit trucks on highways in the southern panhandle of North Viet Nam and claimed 9 destroyed and 12 damaged.

In the south, 22 U.S. Marine and Air Force jets pounced on a group of Communists spotted in the open 22 miles southwest of Hue and reported killing 37, the spokesman said.

The North Vietnamese also reported that Maj. James Kasler, one of the top U.S. pilots in the Viet Nam War who was captured Monday, and another pilot had asked for "leniency of the Vietnamese people for their crimes."

Kasler led the first raid on Hanoi fuel dumps June 29, and the other pilot, identified by Hanoi as Capt. Wiley Shattuck, 34, accompanied him.

In other developments: — The U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee called for "immediate consideration" of the use of National Guard or Reserve units in Viet Nam.

Calling the situation a scandal, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said, "Men who have enough pull to get into the Reserve or National Guard units are not being sent to fight, while the man across the street who is drafted lands in Viet Nam."

— President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines indicated he thought an appeal by the Philippines, Thailand and Malaysia for an Asian-sponsored Viet Nam peace conference might succeed if it received less publicity.

Mishap Hurts 5 In 2 Autos

Five East Palestine residents suffered comparatively minor injuries in a two-car mishap Friday at 2:20 p. m. on Route 170 about seven-tenths of a mile north of East Palestine, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

The collision involved a 1958 sedan operated by Eunice Shearer, 33, of East Palestine and a 1965 coach driven by John J. Hartford, 25, also of East Palestine.

The woman motorist, driving north, attempted a right turn, when her auto was hit in the rear by Hartford's car, the patrol said. Hartford was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

The Shearer woman and a passenger, Josephine Welch, 55, complained of minor injuries. They said they would consult their family physicians.

Hartford and his wife and son all were treated by an East Palestine physician. The patrol said the driver, his wife, Annette Hartford, 25, and their son, Hershel, 2, suffered minor contusions and abrasions. There was severe damage to both cars.

A 24-year-old Louisville woman was admitted to Alliance City Hospital with injuries suffered this morning at 2:20 when her 1957 coach ran off Route 62 at the junction of Oyster Rd. and struck a concrete wall at a railroad overpass.

Brenda Sposetta, whose car was demolished in the mishap, was cited on a charge of reckless operation, the patrol said. She was traveling west when the auto ran off the right side of the highway, the patrol said.

He received the Oak Leaf Cluster to the medal for his role as a weapons director in saving many distressed aircraft and for his duty as training officer of the control and reporting center in his service at Viet Nam from May 6, 1965, to April 20, the Air Force said.

He rescued the troubled aircraft during emergencies by directing them via radio to safe landings in airfields in their area.

Boosters Set Lisbon Drive

LISBON — Roger James and Richard Kuhns are co-chairmen for the Booster Club's 1966-67 membership campaign.

President John March appointed them Thursday night at the high school. A house-to-house canvass, with the help of the Blue Devils Mothers, was discussed.

March also named Felix Ruttecki, Mike Pastore and Ralph Farmer on a committee to plan projects to increase parents' interest in high school sports. A "Dad's Night" for one of the home football games was suggested.

Joe W. Driscoll, new superintendent of Lisbon schools, attended and told the club he will help promote the athletic program in any way he can.

George Ceremuga, football and track coach, reviewed Lisbon's 1966 track season — its first in many years. The boosters will work toward acquiring more track equipment for the 1967 season.

Members voted to buy and develop film for the 10 football games and to buy stamps and stationery for Ceremuga on which to write to parents of boys going out for the squad.

Letters from Gary Pike, basketball coach, and the cheerleaders thanked the boosters for buying a school banner last spring.

200 Pennsylvania Drivers To Have License Suspended

HARRISBURG (AP) — About 200 motorists will have their licenses suspended because they were convicted of traffic violations under Pennsylvania's new point system, reports the Bureau of Traffic Safety.

The system, which went into effect July 24, assesses points for various violations, in addition to fines. If a driver accumulates six points, he must attend a driver improvement school. If he accumulates 11

The bureau said the 200 motorists facing suspension were convicted of exceeding the speed limits by 16 or more miles per hour. This violation carries a six-point penalty plus a mandatory suspension of 15 to 60 days.

The bureau, in making a progress report Friday on the first two weeks of the point system, said about 2,000 motorists were convicted of violations but that 1,500 of these were assessed five points or less.

Brainerd said the 1,500 would receive notices from the bureau warning that if they were convicted again they would have to attend one of 100 driver improvement schools being set up in the state.

He emphasized that if they failed to attend an additional five points would be added to their records, bringing the total to 11 and resulting in a 60-day suspension of operating privileges.

One point is deducted from a driver's record if he attends a school. Two points are deducted for every year he drives without a conviction.

He also reiterated his statement that a partial withdrawal of U.S. forces in Viet Nam might be possible in two years.

"We have made a lot of progress militarily, economically and politically in the last 14 months," he said. "If we can continue this progress I believe we will be strong enough to defend ourselves."

The air action in the north Friday included a strike by Air Force jets on a fuel storage area near Quang Khe, about 20 miles north of Dong Hoi. Pilots reported "heavy black smoke and numerous fires."

Navy fighter-bombers pounded fuel storage areas 13 miles northeast of Haiphong, the spokesman said, and pilots reported that one storage tank exploded and two or three others were ruptured. Large secondary fires were reported.

Air Force pilots also hit trucks on highways in the southern panhandle of North Viet Nam and claimed 9 destroyed and 12 damaged.

In the south, 22 U.S. Marine and Air Force jets pounced on a group of Communists spotted in the open 22 miles southwest of Hue and reported killing 37, the spokesman said.

The North Vietnamese also reported that Maj. James Kasler, one of the top U.S. pilots in the Viet Nam War who was captured Monday, and another pilot had asked for "leniency of the Vietnamese people for their crimes."

Kasler led the first raid on Hanoi fuel dumps June 29, and the other pilot, identified by Hanoi as Capt. Wiley Shattuck, 34, accompanied him.

In other developments: —The U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee called for "immediate consideration" of the use of National Guard or Reserve units in Viet Nam.

Calling the situation a scandal, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said, "Men who have enough pull to get into the Reserve or National Guard units are not being sent to fight, while the man across the street who is drafted lands in Viet Nam."

President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines indicated he thought an appeal by the Philippines, Thailand and Malaysia for an Asian-sponsored Viet Nam peace conference might succeed if it received less publicity.

Mishap Hurts 5 In 2 Autos

Five East Palestine residents suffered comparatively minor injuries in a two - car mishap Friday at 2:20 p. m. on Route 170 about seven - tenths of a mile north of East Palestine, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

The collision involved a 1958 sedan operated by Eunice Shearer, 33, of East Palestine and a 1965 coach driven by John J. Hartford, 25, also of East Palestine.

The woman motorist, driving north, attempted a right turn, when her auto was hit in the rear by Hartford's car, the patrol said. Hartford was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

The Shearer woman and a passenger, Josephine Welch, 55, complained of minor injuries. They said they would consult their family physicians.

Hartford and his wife and son all were treated by an East Palestine physician. The patrol said the driver, his wife, Annette Hartford, 25, and their son, Hershel, 2, suffered minor contusions and abrasions. There was severe damage to both cars.

A 24-year-old Louisville woman was admitted to Alliance City Hospital with injuries suffered this morning at 2:20 when her 1957 coach ran off Route 62 at the junction of Oyster Rd. and struck a concrete wall at a railroad overpass.

Brenda Sporetta, whose car was demolished in the mishap, was cited on a charge of reckless operation, the patrol said. She was traveling west when the auto ran off the right side of the highway, the patrol said.

He received the Oak Leaf Cluster to the medal for his role as a weapons director in saving many distressed aircraft and for his duty as training officer of the control and reporting center in his service at Viet Nam from May 6, 1965, to April 20, the Air Force said.

He rescued the troubled aircraft during emergencies by directing them via radio to safe landings in airfields in their area.

So Says Peruvian Of Masonry

LISBON — Pio Celestino, 28, of Peru, saw Lusk's Lock on the old Sandy and Beaver Canal this week and considered it a good example of masonry.

A lot of people have said that before, but none with more authority than Pio, whose ancestors were the Incas, masons of the Andes.

For centuries men have marveled how these craftsmen laid up huge stones without mortar and with perfect joints — "so tight you can't find an opening with a needle," Pio said. "It was their secret."

THE VISITOR, an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate, arrived in the county last Saturday to spend three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Herron and family of Salem R. D. 3.

His hosts are making sure he sees local points of interest. Joe Pittman, county extension agent, showed him several county farms; Robert Lewis, 4-H agent, took him to the county Selection Day here Thursday, and Pio attended "Dairy Day" Friday at the Ohio agricultural research and development center near Wooster.

Pio lives with his parents in Moche, a small farming community on the Pacific coast seven miles south of Trujillo, a major city.

He was graduated from the University of Trujillo and produces educational television programs for the Ministry of Public Education.

The Celestino family follows the Roman Catholic faith. Spanish is the language of the home. Pio said his parents had little schooling, but are proud their five sons and two daughters are college graduates. A son, Dr. Alvaro Celestino, is a gastroenterologist at Employers Hospital in Lima, the capital.

PIO ARRIVED in the United States by jet April 25 and is scheduled to leave Nov. 26. He hopes to make arrangements to stay for graduate work in political science.

Assigned to Kansas first, Pio lived with farm families at Wichita, Dodge City, Jamestown and Manhattan, where he was a guest one week of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity at Kansas State University.

He will go to Putnam County in Ohio following his stay here.

He said a "most interesting" experience was the mid - point conference recently at Lexington, Ky. He was one of 114 IFYE's attending from 33 countries.

IFYE, established in 1948, is a two-way exchange program for young adults. It is conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation for the Cooperative Extension service.

'Long-Haired' Motorcyclist Ordered To Go Get A Haircut

LISBON — Acting Judge Richard D. Kennedy of Columbiana County Southwest Court suspended a $20 fine Friday for a long - haired motorcyclist on the condition he get a haircut.

Donald E. Keister, 18, of Minerva R. D. 1, cited for a muffler violation by the State Highway Patrol chose to pay the $5 court costs and get a haircut when given the choice of "either, or."

Keister said he would get a crewcut Monday. He is to report to the court office the same day to show he kept his promise.

Seven other drivers were fined: Robert Pitts, 26, of Salineville R. D., threatening Marshal Bernard Buxton of Hanoverton, $100 and costs and 30 days in the county jail ($75 of fine and all jail sentence suspended); John Borza Jr., 19, of Lisbon R. D. 2, speeding, $20 and costs, Jacqueline Criss, 19, of 220 Lee Ave., Lisbon, passing at a hill crest, $15 and costs.

Snyder, 23, of 2135 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., East Liverpool, speeding, $10 and costs, and James M. Todd, 25, of 209 N. Market St., Lisbon, no taillights, $10 and costs.

Thomas W. Campbell of Negley, charged with fishing at Guilford Lake without a license, forfeited a $15 appearance bond.

Scheduled hearings for Eugene R. Miner, owner of Miner's Tavern at Kensington, and James May Jr., a bartender, were continued until Tuesday. Miner is charged with obstructing a state liquor agent and May with selling a mixed drink to a patron "while standing." State law requires that a customer be seated before he can be served.

PITTSBURGH — Albert J. Berdis has been named chairman of the Great Lakes Steel Division of the National Steel Corp.

He will be succeeded as president of Great Lakes by Robert F. Roelofs, who has been executive vice president of the division.

In 1960, he became president of its Midwest Steel Division at Portage, Ind., in 1962, president of its Great Lakes Steel Division at Detroit and in 1963, vice president and director of the parent company, National Steel, both of which posts he will continue to fill as chairman of Great Lakes.

Boosters Set Lisbon Drive

LISBON — Roger James and Richard Kuhns are co-chairmen for the Booster Club's 1966-67 membership campaign.

President John March appointed them Thursday night at the high school. A house-to-house canvass, with the help of the Blue Devils Mothers, was discussed.

March also named Felix Rutcki, Mike Pastore and Ralph Farmer on a committee to plan projects to increase parents' interest in high school sports. A "Dad's Night" for one of the home football games was suggested.

Joe W. Driscoll, new superintendent of Lisbon schools, attended and told the club he will help promote the athletic program in any way he can.

George Ceremuga, football and track coach, reviewed Lisbon's 1966 track season — its first in many years. The boosters will work toward acquiring more track equipment for the 1967 season.

Members voted to buy and develop film for the 10 football games and to buy stamps and stationery for Ceremuga on which to write to parents of boys going out for the squad.

Letters from Gary Pike, basketball coach, and the cheerleaders thanked the boosters for buying a school banner last spring.

House Of Treasures

By PAUL HUTCHMAN

THE East Liverpool Historical Society Museum, occupying the entire second floor of the Carnegie Public Library, is a veritable treasure house of items representative of the early culture and development of the Tri-State area.

Curator of the museum — founded by Will Thompson, noted musical composer, and privately incorporated by the Historical Society in 1907 — is Harold B. Barth, who is secretary of the Historical Society.

Dale Thompson is president of the Society and W. H. Vodrey Jr. the treasurer.

Barth is also one of the chief contributors to the museum.

In conducting tours, he enthusiastically explains the origin of the innumerable relics of the days of wild Indians, horses and buggies, the Civil War and the first potteries.

A vase made in 1861 in the pottery started by William Bloor and presented by him to Enoch Bradshaw, Barth's grandfather, is in a case by the doorway of the East Wing.

IN THE SAME DISPLAY case is a "Rebecca at the Well" teapot out of the first kiln of the James Bennett pottery. The teapot was presented by Bennett to Enoch's wife, Mrs. Cynthia Logan Bradshaw, Barth's grandmother.

Letters written at the turn of the century authorizing payment of $50,000 by Andrew Carnegie for the construction of the library are on display. The Bradshaw homestead, in which Barth was born, was located on the present site of the library.

Political campaign buttons of varied sizes from the 19th century to the present are on exhibit.

Currency of various denominations used in the 1800's may be seen in another display, posing the question of what quantities of merchandise could have been purchased with the money in comparison with today's rapidly-eroding dollar.

Tools and weapons contrast with such articles as old Bibles and hymn books. Other objects useful to settlers include bullet molds, candle molds, sheep bells, dutch ovens, spurs and stirrups.

An Indian archaeological collection presented to the museum by Barth in 1941 features numerous arrowheads, grinding stones and ax heads, all found in the area, plus photographs of an Indian mound in East End. An Indian war club may be viewed in another display.

IN OTHER cases are clothing and uniforms used during the Civil War, and such diverse items as a bear trap, sheep shears, broad ax, sleigh bells, spinning wheels, McGuffey's Readers, a sundial, early potters' tools, and "apothecary scales used by Thomas Laughlin in his general merchandise store at Fredericktown in 1848."

Early maps of the East Liverpool area, fossils, types of soil and coal, and unusual rock specimens are exhibited.

Unique items are "part of tree under which Gen. John H. Morgan surrendered," "Handcuffs supposed to have been used by former sheriff John Wyman" and a "Butternut pin worn by the 'Copperheads' during the Civil War 1861-65."

Perhaps the most valued of all are numerous portraits by the famous American artist, David G. Blythe, including "William P. Morrison," "Sarah Leech Hill," "Sanford Clark Hill," "James Logan," "John Blythe" (father of David G. Blythe), "Susan Blythe" (the artist's mother), "John Fisher," "Elizabeth Hill Fisher," "David Clark

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member

If some hot, summer night you are fishing along a creek and a large, winged creature attacks you, the chances are you have encountered one of nature's oddities—the Dobson fly.

A fearsome looking insect, it is about three to four inches long, with a wing span to match the length of its body. Dark colored, it has four wings, pincer jaws and hooks on the tail than can cling to almost any surface.

For some unknown reason this insect will fly at your face, and seems to be attracted by the shiny ferrules of a fishing rod.

Most fishermen are thoroughly familiar with the insect in its larval stage when it is known as a hellgrammite.

I was fishing along Beaver Creek after dark a few weeks ago when one smacked me in the side of the face. I had seen them flitting by in the twilight, but thought they were bats and didn't pay too much attention.

Then when it got real dark, as it can along a creek at night, one hit me. To say I was startled would be an understatement.

The impact really stung. In water almost up to the top of my hip boots, I couldn't move too quickly, but I headed for shore until I could determine what was flying around.

In a few minutes the air seemed literally to be filled with them. They would dart at the metal parts of my spinning rod and the hooks on my lure.

When I turned the beam of a flashlight on them, they would fly away. If they landed on your shirt, they would cling with all their legs and had to be pulled off.

It made fishing unpleasant, but it was not nearly so frightening after discovering what they were.

A friend who was on the other side of the creek had the same trouble, but said there were not as many where he was.

THE NAME HELLGRAMMITE is usually appropriate, since they are one of the most fearless insects and their jaws are strong.

They seem to be in a nasty mood all the time and will seize anything nearby on the slightest provocation. It happens to be your finger and the insect is big enough, it will draw blood.

Fully grown in the larval stage, they are dark brown and about three inches long. The hooks on their tails anchor them to the bottom of a stream in the swiftest current. The larvae live and grow under water for about three years. Then they crawl out and hide under a log or stone along the shoreline to pupate, emerging in about 10 days as a winged fly. They mate, lay eggs and start the cycle again.

Hellgrammites are excellent for bass bait and can be collected in riffles of streams, where they hide under rocks. Usually two people are required to collect them. One holds a net while the other goes upstream, lifting up rocks to loosen them and allow them to float downstream into the net.

They will keep for several weeks if placed in a shade, cool, well vented container full of moist grass.

They are usually hooked under the collar between the head and body. They are tough and sometimes one can be used to catch several bass. It is a good idea to trim the hooks off the tail or they will sink to the bottom and quickly attach themselves to the bottom side of a rock, snagging your line.

The winged ones also make good bait. Some fishermen tear off the wings, other leave them on to flutter on top of the water.

FORTUNATELY NO REPORTS of injuries have been received in Columbiana County from high explosives this summer. But the danger is always there.

Explosives are used extensively in mining and road work ing, road building, heavy construction, lumbering, agriculture, irrigation, etc.

The total number of blasting cap accidents annually involving youngsters is quite small in comparison. But each one is needless and avoidable.

This illustration shows various blasting caps one-half actual size.

Now would be a good time to show your children and remind yourself what caps look like. Blasting caps are not playthings. And if you come across anything that looks like this, don't touch!

The best thing is to report the find to the nearest policeman, fireman, sheriff, or military units.

These small caps can rip up your face, blow off your fingers, put out your eyes or make you deaf. Take a good look and remember.

PENNSYLVANIA HAS made an experimental planting of 25,000 Coho or Silver Salmon in Harveys Lake, Luzerna County.

Western anglers are especially fond of the fighting qualities of the Silver Salmon, a sea run fish of the Pacific Ocean, because it readily strikes artificial lures and will weigh up to 10 pounds.

Robert J. Bielo, executive director of the Fish Commission, said the fish weighed a total of 500 pounds, were 2 to 4 inches in length and were hatched from eggs for research purposes.

The lake was screened against possible escape. Biologists, equipped with scuba diving equipment, stocked the fish in the cool waters below the warm water layer to provide best temperature conditions and to prevent the other fish in the lake from devouring the new stock.

Bielo says it will be several years before the experiment will be completely evaluated. In 1959, Kokanee salmon, also from the Pacific, were tried in an experiment and now are abundant in Upper Woods Pond, Wayne County.

Home Hints

Columbiana County Home Economist

How long will cheese keep?

It keeps best in the refrigerator and storage time depends on the kind of cheese and the wrapping.

Cottage cheese and ricotta, if covered, will keep three to five days in the refrigerator. Cream cheese and other soft varieties will keep two weeks if kept covered or tightly wrapped. Hard cheese such as Cheddar and Swiss will keep several months if tightly wrapped to prevent drying out.

LEAVE CHEESE in its original wrapper if possible. Cover cut surfaces tightly with waxed paper, foil or plastic to protect the surface from drying, or store the cheese in a tightly-covered container.

If you want to store a large piece of cheese for any extended time, dip the cut surface in melted paraffin. Store cheese that has a strong odor, such as limburger, in a tightly-covered container.

If mold appears on hard natural cheese, just trim it off. The cheese is still good to eat. Mold is an important part of mold-ripened cheese such as "Blue" or "Roquefort," and it can be eaten.

Freezing is not recommended for most cheeses because they become crumbly and mealy. You can successfully freeze small pieces — one pound or less, not more than one inch thick — of brick, Cheddar, Edam, Gouda, Muenster, Port du Salut, Swiss, Provolone, Mozzarella and Camembert. Wrap the cheese tightly in moisture-vapor proof wrapping material.

Freeze quickly at zero degrees Fahrenheit or below and store no more than six months.

CHEESE CAN replace part of the fluid milk we need in our diet each day. A one-inch cube of Cheddar-type cheese provides the same amount of calcium as one-half cup of milk. One half cup of cottage cheese is equal to one-third cup of milk in its calcium content.

Calcium is the most important nutrient provided by the milk group because it is not provided by other foods.

Adults need two cups of milk daily; teenagers four or more; children, 9 to 12, three or more, and children under 9, two to three cups.

Cooking Hints

After broiling chicken in fat, before using in a casserole dish, drain the chicken pieces on brown paper or on several thicknesses of paper toweling.

When you add canned tomatoes to chili con carne, you may also want to add a suspicion of sugar.

Ever make sandwiches of tuna salad plus thinly sliced ham? Interesting combination!

To stretch canned stewed tomatoes, heat with drained canned wax beans.

Egg whites leftover? Use them to make a pie meringue extra high and handsome.

HOT-AIR BALLOONIST TRACY BARNES was plucked from the Allegheny River at Tarentum, Pa., Friday after he was forced to ditch while on a cross-country flight. Schoenbrunn on Route 250 south of New Philadelphia is a reconstruction of the first settlement in Ohio where Moravian Indians and missionaries lived together. The settlement, founded in 1772, once included 60 log cabins and the first church and schoolhouse west of the Allegheny Mountains.

Gnadenhuetten on Route 36 was the site of a massacre of Moravian Indians in 1782 by armed forces under the leadership of Colonel Williamson. This community was the birthplace — on July 4, 1773 — of John L. Roth, first white child born in what is now Ohio.

Fort Laurens Memorial, an 82-acre tract just outside Bolivar, was the site of the only U.S. military fort in Ohio during the Revolutionary War.

Reminders of the Civil War are the Custer Monument on Route 646 at New Rumley, marking the birthplace of the famous general and Indian fighter, and McCook House at Carrollton, home of the "Fighting McCooks," now a museum.

Other suggested places of interest are the Ernest Warner Museum on Route 39 at Dover, exhibiting hand-carved models of locomotives and other mechanical items, and Sugar Creek, home of the Swiss Cheese Festival to be held this year on September 30 and October 1. An all-Swiss festival is planned. The Columbiana County Motor Club suggests Route 7 from East Liverpool to Route 39 out of Wellsville to Dellroy, and to the Atwood Lake area tour.

Phew!

I do not know what others think,
But here's the plan for me:
I'd settle for an icy drink
Beside the Arctic Sea.

Or a seat beside the ocean wide
In a veritable tornado,
Or a spot that's cool in a vestibule
With a cold, aloof tomato.

Be glad to share with a Polar Bear
His home within the snow.
Or sit and freeze in a cooling breeze
Of an air-conditioned show.

It might be nice on a cake of ice,
If the air-conditioning stalls.
Perhaps out there in the open air
Beneath Niagara Falls.

Of an early fall of sleet
Than to breathe my last in the white hot blast
Of this wretched August heat.

Most stores will hold merchandise for you provided you leave a deposit on the purchase to show interest in the item. There are many reasons for such a requirement. Probably the most widely cited by merchants is, "If they've got money involved, they'll either pay for it or return it, squaring the account."

Deposits may take many forms. For instance, most apartment dwellers are asked for a security deposit returnable when they cancel their lease. If the tenant has been careless and damaged the property, the landlord can deduct the cost of reasonable repair or cleanup from this deposit.

Utility companies often require a deposit from new customers. However, here, rather than wait until the customer cancels the service, the deposit may be returned to the customer once he has established good credit with the company.

IN SOME cases the prospective customer should be wary when asked to make a deposit on some items. In some instances unscrupulous businessmen have taken a deposit and asked the customer to "sign this receipt" for it. When the customer attempts to return the items, such as a used car, the dealer notes that the "receipt" was actually a sales contract and he is legally obligated to purchase the car.

The amount of deposit required in any of these cases is up to the business place involved. For a "good customer" there may be no deposit required. For the bad risk, the deposit might be half the purchase price.

Deposits are a necessary thing in the business world, but the customer should always be certain he knows where the deposit is going—and that he can have it returned or applied to the purchase price.

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART

If some hot, summer night you are fishing along a creek and a large, winged creature attacks you, the chances are you have encountered one of nature's oddities—the Dobson fly.

A fearsome looking insect, it is about three to four inches long, with a wing span to match the length of its body. Dark colored, it has four wings, pincer jaws and hooks on the tail than can cling to almost any surface.

For some unknown reason this insect will fly at your face, and seems to be attracted by the shiny ferrules of a fishing rod.

Most fishermen are thoroughly familiar with the insect in its larvae stage when it is known as a hellgrammite.

I was fishing along Beaver Creek after dark a few weeks ago when one snacked me in the side of the face. I had seen them flitting by in the twilight, but thought they were bats and didn't pay too much attention.

Then when it got real dark, as it can along a creek at night, one hit me. To say I was startled would be an understatement.

The impact really stung. In water almost up to the top of my hip boots, I couldn't move too quickly, but I headed for shore until I could determine what was flying around.

In a few minutes the air seemed literally to be filled with them. They would dart at the metal parts of my spinning rod and the hooks on my lure.

When I turned the beam of a flashlight on them, they would fly away. If they landed on your shirt, they would cling with all their legs and had to be pulled off.

It made fishing unpleasant, but it was not nearly so frightening after discovering what they were.

A friend who was on the other side of the creek had the same trouble, but said there were not as many where he was.

THE NAME HELLGRAMITE is usually appropriate, since they are one of the most fearless insects and their jaws are strong.

They seem to be in a nasty mood all the time and will seize anything nearby on the slightest provocation. It happens to be your finger and the insect is big enough, it will draw blood.

Fully grown in the larvae stage, they are dark brown and about three inches long. The hooks on their tails anchor them to the bottom of a stream in the swiftest current. The larvae live and grow under water for about three years. Then they crawl out and hide under a log or stone along the shoreline to pupate, emerging in about 10 days as a winged fly. They mate, lay eggs and start the cycle again.

Hellgrammites are excellent for bass bait and can be collected in riffles of streams, where they hide under rocks. Usually two people are required to collect them. One holds a net while the other goes upstream, lifting up rocks to loosen them and allow them to float downstream into the net.

They will keep for several weeks if placed in a shade, cool, well vented container full of moist grass.

They are usually hooked under the collar between the head and body. They are tough and sometimes one can be used to catch several bass. It is a good idea to trim the hooks off the tail or they will sink to the bottom and quickly attach themselves to the bottom side of a rock, snagging your line.

The winged ones also make good bait. Some fishermen tear off the wings, other leave them on to flutter on top of the water.

FORTUNATELY NO REPORTS of injuries have been received in Columbiana County from high explosives this summer. But the danger is always there.

Explosives are used extensively in mining and road work ing, road building, heavy construction, lumbering, agriculture, irrigation, etc.

The total number of blasting cap accidents annually involving youngsters is quite small in comparison. But each one is needless and avoidable.

This illustration shows various blasting caps one-half actual size.

Now would be a good time to show your children and remind yourself what caps look like. Blasting caps are not playthings. And if you come across anything that looks like this, don't touch!

The best thing is to report the find to the nearest policeman, fireman, sheriff, or military units.

These small caps can rip up your face, blow off your fingers, put out your eyes or make you deaf. Take a good look and remember.

PENNSYLVANIA HAS made an experimental planting of 25,000 Coho or Silver Salmon in Harveys Lake, Luzerna County.

Western anglers are especially fond of the fighting qualities of the Silver Salmon, a sea run fish of the Pacific Ocean, because it readily strikes artificial lures and will weigh up to 10 pounds.

Robert J. Bielo, executive director of the Fish Commission, said the fish weighed a total of 500 pounds, were 2 to 4 inches in length and were hatched from eggs for research purposes.

The lake was screened against possible escape. Biologists, equipped with scuba diving equipment, stocked the fish in the cool waters below the warm water layer to provide best temperature conditions and to prevent the other fish in the lake from devouring the new stock.

Bielo says it will be several years before the experiment will be completely evaluated. In 1959, Kokanee salmon, also from the Pacific, were tried in an experiment and now are abundant in Upper Woods Pond, Wayne County.

HOT-AIR BALLOONIST TRACY BARNES was plucked from the Allegheny River at Tarentum, Pa., Friday after he was forced to ditch while on a cross-country flight. Barnes took off from San Diego, Calif., April 19. After drying out and reconditioning his balloon, shown in the background, Barnes plans to continue on to the east coast. (UPI Telephoto)

Home Hints

By Ann Overturf

Columbiana County Home Economist

How long will cheese keep? It keeps best in the refrigerator and storage time depends on the kind of cheese and the wrapping.

Cottage cheese and ricotta, if covered, will keep three to five days in the refrigerator. Cream cheese and other soft varieties will keep two weeks if kept covered or tightly wrapped. Hard cheese such as Cheddar and Swiss will keep several months if tightly wrapped to prevent drying out.

LEAVE CHEESE in its original wrapper if possible. Cover cut surfaces tightly with waxed paper, foil or plastic to protect the surface from drying, or store the cheese in a tightly-covered container.

If you want to store a large piece of cheese for any extended time, dip the cut surface in melted paraffin. Store cheese that has a strong odor, such as limburger, in a tightly-covered container.

If mold appears on hard natural cheese, just trim it off. The cheese is still good to eat. Mold is an important part of mold-ripened cheese such as "Blue" or "Roquefort," and it can be eaten.

Freezing is not recommended for most cheeses because they become crumbly and mealy. You can successfully freeze small pieces — one pound or less, not more than one inch thick — of brick, Cheddar, Edam, Gouda, Muenster, Port du Salut, Swiss, Provolone, Mozzarella and Camembert. Wrap the cheese tightly in moisture-vapor proof wrapping material.

Freeze quickly at zero degrees Fahrenheit or below and store no more than six months.

CHEESE CAN replace part of the fluid milk we need in our diet each day. A one-inch cube of Cheddar-type cheese provides the same amount of calcium as one-half cup of milk. One half cup of cottage cheese is equal to one-third cup of milk in its calcium content.

Calcium is the most important nutrient provided by the milk group because it is not provided by other foods.

Adults need two cups of milk daily; teen-agers four or more; children, 9 to 12, three or more, and children under 9, two to three cups.

Cooking Hints

After broiling chicken in fat, before using in a casserole dish, drain the chicken pieces on brown paper or on several thicknesses of paper toweling.

When you add canned tomatoes to chili con carne, you may also want to add a suspicion of sugar.

Ever make sandwiches of tuna salad plus thinly sliced ham? Interesting combination!

To stretch canned stewed tomatoes, heat with drained canned wax beans.

Egg whites leftover? Use them to make a pie meringue extra high and handsome.

Bucs Outlast Reds, 14-11, In 13-Inning Homer Derby

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays got a step closer. Art Shamsky got a 43rd of a record and Bob Bailey got a bucket of water in his face.

Each earned their rewards Friday night by hitting significant home runs as the hectic National League pennant race continued.

Mays' home run carried second-place San Francisco and Gaylord Perry past Houston 1-0 while Bailey's pair and Shamsky's trio helped Pittsburgh and Cincinnati tie a major-league record of 11 homers in one game. The first-place Pirates won the 13-inning game 14-11 and maintained their two-game lead over the Giants.

The homer for Mays was his 27th of the season and 532nd of his career, moving him to within two of Jimmy Foxx, whose 534 is second on the all-time list. After Mays passes Foxx, only Babe Ruth and his 714 remain.

Shamsky, who entered the Cincinnati lineup in the eighth, most likely never will reach those heights, but he did gain a share of a modern National League home-run record.

By hitting three homers in three times at bat — they came within four innings — Shamsky joined 35 other NL players who hit three consecutive homers 42 previous times.

Bailey hit only two homers, but he added a two-run double in the 11th that gave the Pirates a temporary 11-9 lead. That was before Shamsky's third homer tied the game for the fourth and last time.

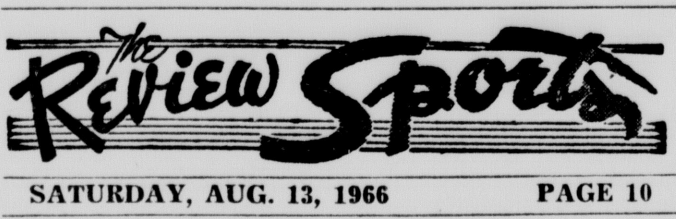

For his night's work in the four-hour, 22-minute affair, Bailey was rewarded in the jubilation Pirate clubhouse with a bucket of water thrown in his face and a stream of beer poured over his head.

The Pirates finally won the marathon with three runs in the 13th, the first two on Manny Mota's bases-loaded single.

Shamsky drove in the Reds' last five runs with his homers in the eighth, 10th and 11th. The first put Cincinnati ahead 8-7, the second tied the game 9-9 and the third 11-11.

Jerry Lynch extended his major league career pinch-hit homer record with his 18th that tied

Mays Homers To Give Giants Nod

In the other NL games Chicago edged Los Angeles 2-1 and New York defeated St. Louis 6-2.

the game 8-8 in the ninth, and Willie Stargell's homer gave the Pirates a 9-8 lead in the 10th. Jesse Gonder and Roberto Clemente added to Pittsburgh's six-homer barrage while Deron Johnson and Pete Rose also connected for the Reds.

Mays hit his homer leading off the ninth in the offensively scoreless contest. The blow was only the fourth hit off Houston's Mike Cuellar.

Perry stopped the Astros on three hits, gaining his 18th victory against two defeats. Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax is the only other pitcher in the majors with 18 victories.

Don Sutton and Los Angeles were headed for a 1-0 victory until the ninth when the Cubs rallied for two runs on singles by Glenn Beckert and George Altman sandwiches around Ron Santo's double. Chicago's Ken Holtzman allowed just five hits but let in the Dodgers' run in the first with a wild pitch.

Jack Fisher gave up 12 hits but rode a five-run New York outburst in the third inning to a victory over St. Louis. Larry Elliot doubled home two runs in the third while singles by Al Luplow and Gerry Grote brought in two more.

Killebrew Finds Home Run Range; Baltimore Splits

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ball is jumping off Harmon Killebrew's bat again and that could mean the Minnesota Twins are ready to take charge of the three-way tussle for fourth place in the American League.

Killebrew smashed a two-run homer, his third in as many games and 25th of the season, triggering Minnesota's 6-2 victory over Kansas City Friday night.

The shot left him nine short of Frank Robinson's league leading 34 but both Killebrew and Manager Sam Mele believe the Twins' slugger can still win his fourth home-run crown in five years.

"Harmon is looking very confident at the plate," Mele said. "When he's hitting this well and is this confident, the home runs always seem to come for him."

Killebrew led the American League in homers for three straight seasons, belting 48 in 1962, 45 in 1963 and 49 in 1964. His output slipped to 25 last year when he missed seven weeks with a dislocated left elbow. Tony Conigliaro won the 1965 crown with 32 homers.

"I feel like I'm swinging the bat better than I have all season," Killebrew said. "I've hit the ball good at times this year, but the hits didn't fall in like they are now."

Killebrew has had 18 hits in 51 trips to the plate in the last two weeks, a .373 pace that has raised his season's average 14 points to .280.

His two-run clout keyed Minnesota's three-run first inning against Kansas City's Paul Lindblad. The victory kept the twins in a fourth place tie with Chicago which nipped California 1-0, dropping the Angels one game back of Minnesota and the White Sox.

In other American League games, Cleveland edged New York 3-2, Boston battered Detroit 13-9, and Baltimore split a doubleheader with Washington, winning the first game 2-1 and dropping the second 4-1.

Killebrew's homer helped Jim Perry to the early lead, Jerry Allard just five hits, winning his sixth game in 11 decisions.

Two wild pitches by Dean Chance gave Chicago its only run and Tommy John made it stand up to beat California.

Pete Ward opened the fifth with a single and moved around to third on an infield out and a wild pitch.

Then, after Chance walked John, Ward raced home as the fourth ball to Don Buford went wild.

It was the eighth straight victory for the streaking White Sox and John, who pitched a four-hitter, ran his record to 11-6.

The Red Sox, who had scored in the last five innings of Thursday night's 13-3 romp over Cleveland, scored in every inning except the fourth against the Tigers.

Carl Yastrzemski keyed Boston's attack with four straight hits, scoring three times and driving in two runs, as every Red Sox starter except the pitcher hit safely.

Robinson's 34th homer beat Washington in the first game giving Moe Drabowsky the victory in his first start after 29 relief appearances this season.

Drabowsky, who got the assignment because of injuries to three Oriole starters, allowed only four hits before tiring in

Chicago Gains 13-10 Decision

By KEN HARTNETT
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Master mentor Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers may have found a way to stop Chicago's Gale Sayers. Now all Lombardi

Packers Halt Sayers But Not Bears

Friday night's 13-10 Bear exhibition victory over the National Football League champions.

But in the second half, Sayers began finding daylight thanks to Marconi.

"They were keying on me (in the first half). Marconi did a helluva job making it easier for Jon Arnett and me to run," said Sayers who came back to set up one touchdown and score another in the decisive third period.

Sayers finished the night with 58 yards rushing while Marconi picked up 61. The 11-year veteran from West Virginia also gained 44 yards on the receiving end of Rudy Bukich's passes.

"Somebody fell asleep on our pass defense on Marconi in the second half," said Lombardi. "I'm not going to say who it was."

But what happened may have been what Coach George Halas of the Bears predicted would happen this season as opposing teams try to stop Sayers.

"They'll rig special defenses for him. What we are working on is aimed at taking advantage of those special defenses. When you concentrate too much on one man, you leave yourself more vulnerable," Halas said earlier this week.

Down 3-0 at halftime and able to bring the ball into Green Bay territory for only two plays in the first 30 minutes, the Bears caught fire after intermission. They scored on a Bukich-to-Marconi pass and a 17-yard run by Sayers.

The Packers, who played the second half without veteran mainstays Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor at running backs, came back on the passes of Zeke Bratkowski for a touchdown with 1:48 left to play.

Rookie Ron Rector, playing in the place of Hornung, crashed over from the three.

The Buffalo Bills crushed the Denver Broncos 25-3 and the Kansas City Chiefs walloped the Miami Dolphins 33-0 in two other exhibitions Friday night.

A 74-yard touchdown run by Butch Byrd and four field goals by Booth Lusteg sparked the AFL champion Bills over Denver before 28,144 at Buffalo. A Miami turnout of 34,277 saw the Dolphins outclassed by a Kansas City coach Woody Hayes, who saw fullback Paul Huff of Dover smash for two short yardage touchdowns on consecutive drives. Huff is headed for Ohio State.

Osley accounted for the other score, a floating 28-yard pass that end Jim Snyder of Athens snatched on his fingertips with a diving catch in the end zone.

Walker said of Snyder, "He's great, isn't he?"

Huff provided the straight-ahead power and Tony Lewis of Dayton Wilbur Wright; the swivel-hipping end runs.

Osley was the deceptive director, rolling one way and handing off to a halfback cutting inside and going the opposite direction, faking into the middle, then throwing slow-motion passes on key third down situations.

"The passes are what hurt us," Seaman said. "We'd get them third and long and they'd complete."

Osley completed five of nine for 94 yards and the Bears rushed for 146 yards. The South's tough line held the North to 44 yards rushing. Chiebek, Stark County's all-time scoring leader, played only briefly because of leg injury, but did the punting and boomed one over 60 yards in the air.

Seaman added a postscript to the loss:

3 Deadlocked For Lead In Thunderbird

By HERSHEL NISENSEN
CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Remember the name Billy Casper. He's the two-time U.S. Open champion who's won four tournaments on the current tour and is leading it, his bid for a fifth.

Also remember the name of Milton Daniel (Babe) Lichardus. You may never hear it again.

These two, along with bespectacled Mason Rudolph, held the top three spots today as the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic went into its third round.

Casper and Rudolph are familiar golfing names but it was Lichardus, a 37-year-old beetle-browed local product, who had veteran golfers stumped trying to recall the last time a club pro won a tour event.

The Babe, assistant pro at the Hollywood Golf Club in Deal on the Jersey shore, fired a 68 Friday for a two-day total of 139, one stroke behind Casper, who also had a 68, and tied with Rudolph, who carded a 70.

Two strokes back at 140 was Canada's George Knudson while Gary Coody, Billy Mardindle, Charles Coody and Bob Zimmerman all had 141 over the 7,055-yard, par 72 Upper Montclair Country Club course. The low 70 and ties made today's third round.

Lichardus, facing newsmen in the same chair occupied earlier by Casper, Player, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, apologized "for keeping you boys here this late... but this was my career round."

Lichardus birdied five of the first 11 holes Friday, had his only two bogeys at 14 and 15 but recovered with another birdie or 16. His bid for a birdie on 18 and a share of the lead failed when a 15-foot putt rimmed the right side of the cup.

South Wins, 18-0, Over North Squad In All-Star Game

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Sharp execution and a dash of pride are two reasons why southern Ohio high school football players have a one-game edge over their Yankee rivals today.

"We just out - executed 'em," South Coach Dick Walker of Columbus Watterson said after the Rebels' 18-0 victory in the 21st North - South game Friday night at Fawcett Stadium. The series now stands 10-9-2.

"It was the worst beating and the second shutout the Yanks have taken since 1957, when they were whipped 26-0."

Walker felt his boys may have had an added incentive.

"This proves there is good football played in other parts of the state besides Stark County," he said. Massillon was rated the top team last season in the Associated Press poll.

"It's especially satisfying to win after hearing all about Massillon and Canton McKinley all the time," he added.

North Coach Bob Seaman of Massillon summed up the Yanks' effort:

"It was a helluva poor game, offensively," he said. "The South had a good football team, but not 18 points better."

The North's offense, directed by quarterback Brian Healy of Sandusky, never got into high gear. Jim Ousley, Middletown's All-Ohio quarterback, had his southern offensive machine running smoothly, especially in the first half when the Reds did all their scoring.

The North runners, minus All-Ohio fullback Tom Chiebek most of the time, kept banging against a defensive front that averaged 240 pounds. It didn't work.

"The big guys up front stopped many sustained drives," Walker said. The North's deepest drive carried to the South 14-yard line in the second quarter.

An interested spectator among the 18,000 gathered on a perfect football night was Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, who saw fullback Paul Huff of Dover smash for two short yardage touchdowns on consecutive drives. Huff is headed for Ohio State.

Osley accounted for the other score, a floating 28-yard pass that end Jim Snyder of Athens snatched on his fingertips with a diving catch in the end zone.

Walker said of Snyder, "He's great, isn't he?"

Huff provided the straight-ahead power and Tony Lewis of Dayton Wilbur Wright; the swivel-hipping end runs.

Osley was the deceptive director, rolling one way and handing off to a halfback cutting inside and going the opposite direction, faking into the middle, then throwing slow-motion passes on key third down situations.

"The passes are what hurt us," Seaman said. "We'd get them third and long and they'd complete."

Osley completed five of nine for 94 yards and the Bears rushed for 146 yards. The South's tough line held the North to 44 yards rushing. Chiebek, Stark County's all-time scoring leader, played only briefly because of leg injury, but did the punting and boomed one over 60 yards in the air.

Seaman added a postscript to the loss:

Legion Nine Tops Medics In Playoff

Chester Legion defeated the Medics, 3-1, Friday at Thompson Park in a playoff battle for the second half title in the Little League's National Division.

Kim Kuczynski pitched a four hitter for Chester going the distance and also tripled driving in a run.

Phil Lascola led the winners with two hits. Ross Fiorello homered for the only Medic run.

Royals Win 12-2 In League Action

The Hammondsville Royals battered Potters Bank, 12-2, Friday in Wellsville Babe Ruth League action at Hammond Park, Wellsville.

Olesky blasted a home run for the winners and Gary Smith and Butch Snyder each had a double and single for the losers.

Lutton was the winning pitcher and Varish suffered the loss.

Lawson's and Super Foods will battle this evening at 6 at the park.

Bucs Outlast Reds, 14-11, In 13-Inning Homer Derby

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays got a step closer. Art Shamsky got a 43rd of a record and Bob Bailey got a bucket of water in his face.

Each earned their rewards Friday night by hitting significant home runs as the hectic National League pennant race continued.

Mays' home run carried second-place San Francisco and Gaylord Perry past Houston 1-0 while Bailey's pair and Shamsky's trio helped Pittsburgh and Cincinnati tie a major-league record of 11 homers in one game. The first-place Pirates won the 13-inning game 14-11 and maintained their two-game lead over the Giants.

The homer for Mays was his 27th of the season and 532nd of his career, moving him to within two of Jimmy Foxx, whose 534 is second on the all-time list. After Mays passes Foxx, only Babe Ruth and his 714 remain.

Shamsky, who entered the Cincinnati lineup in the eighth, most likely never will reach those heights, but he did gain a share of a modern National League home-run record.

By hitting three homers in three times at bat — they came within four innings — Shamsky joined 35 other NL players who hit three consecutive homers 42 previous times.

Bailey hit only two homers, but he added a two-run double in the 11th that gave the Pirates a temporary 11-9 lead. That was before Shamsky's third homer tied the game for the fourth and last time.

For his night's work in the four-hour, 22-minute affair, Bailey was rewarded in the jubilant Pirate clubhouse with a bucket of water thrown in his face and a stream of beer poured over his head.

In the other NL games Chicago edged Los Angeles 2-1 and New York defeated St. Louis 6-2.

The Pirates finally won the marathon with three runs in the 13th, the first two on Manny Mota's bases-loaded single.

Shamsky drove in the Reds' last five runs with his homers in the eighth, 10th and 11th. The first put Cincinnati ahead 8-7, the second tied the game 9-9 and the third 11-11.

Jerry Lynch extended his major league career pinch-hit record with his 18th that tied the game 8-8 in the ninth, and Willie Stargell's homer gave the Pirates a 9-8 lead in the 10th. Jesse Gonder and Roberto Clemente added to Pittsburgh's six-homer barrage while Deron Johnson and Pete Rose also connected for the Reds.

Mays hit his homer leading off the ninth inning of a previously scoreless contest. The blow was only the fourth hit off Houston's Mike Cuellar.

Perry stopped the Astros on three hits, gaining his 18th victory against two defeats. Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax is the only other pitcher in the majors with 18 victories.

Don Sutton and Los Angeles were headed for a 1-0 victory until the ninth when the Cubs rallied for two runs on singles by Glenn Beckert and George Altman sandwiches around Ron Santo's double. Chicago's Ken Holtzman allowed just five hits but let in the Dodgers' run in the first with a wild pitch.

Jack Fisher gave up 12 hits but rode a five-run New York outburst in the third inning to a victory over St. Louis. Larry Elliott doubled home two runs in the third while singles by Al Luplow and Gerry Grote brought in two more.

Killebrew Finds Home Run Range; Baltimore Splits

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ball is jumping off Harmon Killebrew's bat again and that could mean the Minnesota Twins are ready to take charge of the three-way tussle for fourth place in the American League.

Killebrew smashed a two-run homer, his third in as many games and 25th of the season, triggering Minnesota's 6-2 victory over Kansas City Friday night.

The shot left him nine short of Frank Robinson's league leading 34 but both Killebrew and Manager Sam Mele believe the Twins' slugger can still win his fourth home-run crown in five years.

"Harmon is looking very confident at the plate," Mele said. "When he's hitting this well and is this confident, the home runs always seem to come for him."

Killebrew led the American League in homers for three straight seasons, belting 48 in 1962, 45 in 1963 and 49 in 1964. His output slipped to 25 last year when he missed seven weeks with a dislocated left elbow. Tony Conigliaro won the 1965 crown with 32 homers.

"I feel like I'm swinging the bat better than I have all season," Killebrew said. "I've hit the ball good at times this year, but the hits didn't fall in like they are now."

Killebrew has had 18 hits in 51 trips to the plate in the last two weeks, a .373 pace that has raised his season's average 14 points to .280.

His two-run clout keyed Minnesota's three-run first inning against Kansas City's Paul Lindblad. The victory kept the twins in a fourth place tie with Chicago which placed California 1-0, dropping the Angels one game back of Minnesota and the White Sox.

In other American League games, Cleveland edged New York 3-2, Boston battered Detroit 13-9, and Baltimore split a doubleheader with Washington, winning the first game 2-1 and dropping the second 4-1.

Killebrew's homer helped Jim Perry to the early lead. Perry allowed just five hits, winning his sixth game in 11 decisions.

Two wild pitches by Dean Chance gave Chicago its only run and Tommy John made it stand up to beat California.

Pete Ward opened the fifth with a single and moved around to third on an infield out and a wild pitch.

Then, after Chance walked John, Ward raced home as the fourth ball to Don Buford went wild.

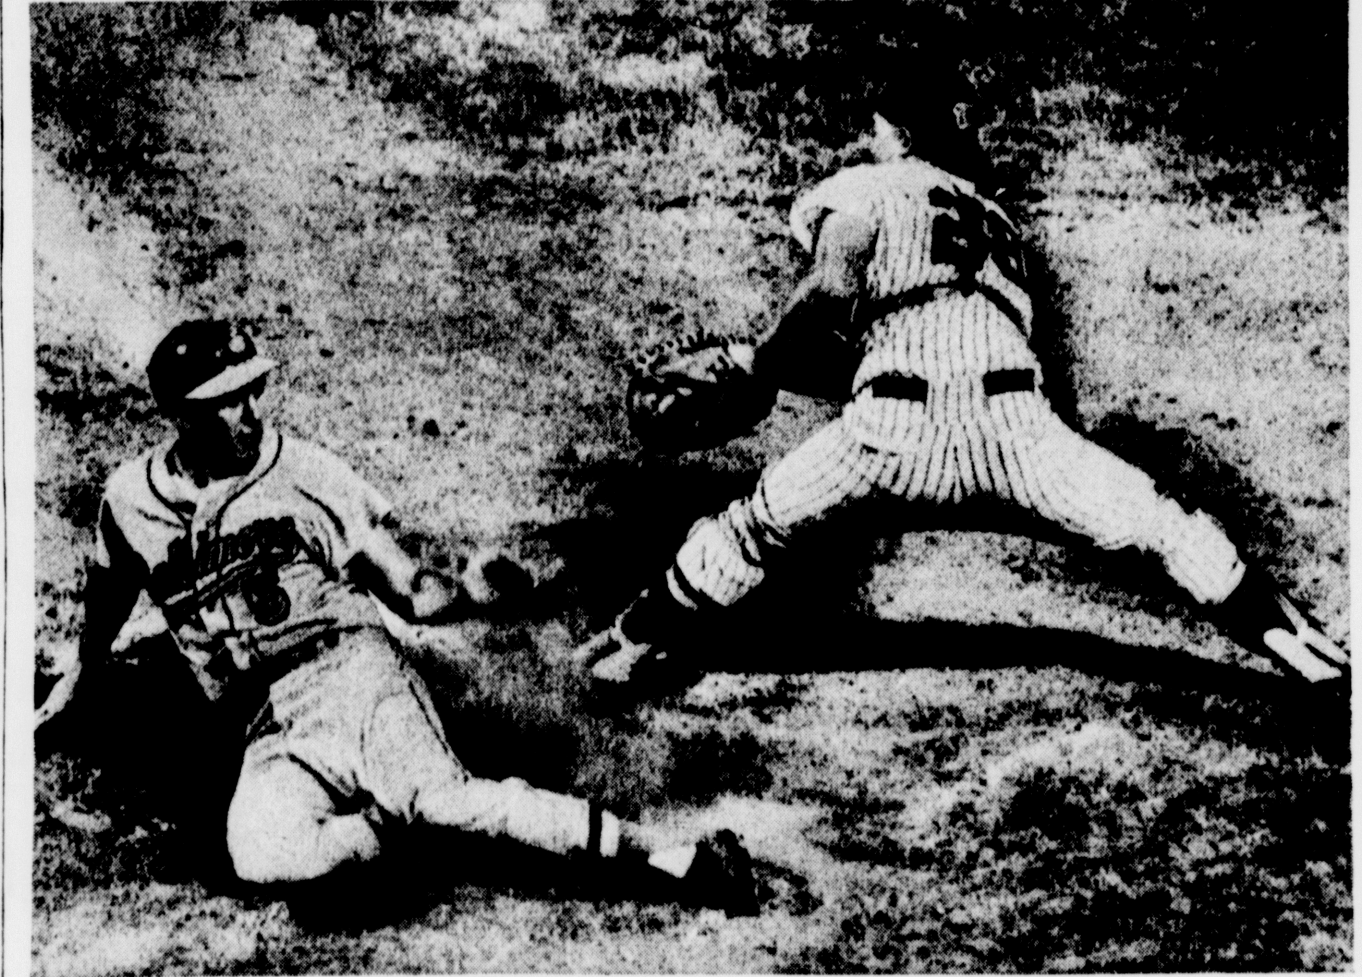

It was the eighth straight victory for the streaking White Sox and John, who pitched a four-hitter, ran his record to 11-6.

The Red Sox, who had scored in the last five innings of Thursday night's 13-3 romp over Cleveland, scored in every inning except the fourth against the Tigers.

Carl Yastrzemski keyed Boston's attack with four straight hits, scoring three times and driving in two runs, as every Red Sox starter except the pitcher hit safely.

Robinson's 34th homer beat Washington in the first game giving Moe Drabowsky the victory in his first start after 29 relief appearances this season.

Drabowsky, who got the assignment because of injuries to three Oriole starters, allowed only four hits before tiring in

Chicago Gains 13-10 Decision

Packers Halt Sayers But Not Bears

By KEN HARTNETT
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Master mentor Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers may have found a way to stop Chicago's Gale Sayers. Now all Lombardi has to do is figure out how to stop Joe Marconi.

Sayers was held to only two yards rushing in the first half of Friday night's 13-10 Bear exhibition victory over the National Football League champions.

But in the second half, Sayers began finding daylight thanks to Marconi.

"They were keying on me (in the first half). Marconi did a helluva job making it easier for Jon Arnett and me to run," said Sayers who came back to set up one touchdown and score another in the decisive third period.

Sayers finished the night with 58 yards rushing while Marconi picked up 61. The 11-year veteran from West Virginia also gained 44 yards on the receiving end of Rudy Bukich's passes.

"Somebody fell asleep on our pass defense on Marconi in the second half," said Lombardi. "I'm not going to say who it was."

But what happened may have been what Coach George Halas of the Bears predicted would happen this season as opposing teams try to stop Sayers.

"They'll rig special defenses for him. What we are working on is aimed at taking advantage of those special defenses. When you concentrate too much on one man, you leave yourself more vulnerable," Halas said earlier this week.

Down 3-0 at halftime and able to bring the ball into Green Bay territory for only two plays in the first 30 minutes, the Bears caught fire after intermission. They scored on a Bukich-to-Marconi pass and a 17-yard-run by Sayers.

The Packers, who played the second half without veteran mainstays Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor at running backs, came back on the passes of Zeke Bratkowski for a touchdown with 1:48 left to play.

Rookie Ron Rector, playing in the place of Hornung, crashed over from the three.

The Buffalo Bills crushed the Denver Broncos 25-3 and the Kansas City Chiefs walloped the Miami Dolphins 33-0 in two other exhibitions Friday night.

A 74-yard touchdown run by Butch Byrd and four field goals by Booth Lusteg sparked the AFL champion Bills over Denver before 28,144 at Buffalo. A Miami turnout of 34,277 saw the Dolphins outclassed by Kansas City. Len Dawson fired a 15-yard TD pass to Chris Burford in the first period for all the scoring the Chiefs needed.

3 Deadlocked For Lead In Thunderbird

By HERSHCEL NISENSEN
CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Remember the name Billy Casper. He's the two-time U.S. Open champion who's won four tournaments on the current tour and is leading it, his bid for a fifth.

Also remember the name of Milton Daniel (Babe) Lichardus. You may never hear it again.

These two, along with bespectacled Mason Rudolph, held the top three spots today as the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic went into its third round.

Casper and Rudolph are familiar golfing names but it was Lichardus, a 37-year-old beetle-browed local product, who had veteran golfers stumped trying to recall the last time a club pro won a tour event.

The Babe, assistant pro at the Hollywood Golf Club in Deal on the Jersey shore, fired a 68 Friday for a two-day total of 139, one stroke behind Casper, who also had a 68, and tied with Rudolph, who carded a 70.

Two strokes back at 140 was Canada's George Knudson while Gary Player, Billy Martindale, Charles Coady and Bob Zimmerman all had 141 over the 7,055-yard, par 72 Upper Montclair Country Club course. The low 70 and ties made today's third round.

Lichardus, facing newsmen in the same chair occupied earlier by Casper, Player, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, apologized "for keeping you boys here this late... but this was my career round."

Lichardus birdied five of the first 11 holes Friday, had his only two bogeys at 14 and 15 but recovered with another birdie or 16. His bid for a birdie on 18 and a share of the lead failed when a 15-foot putt rimmed the right side of the cup.

U.S., Mexico Open Tennis Finals Today

By RICHARD H. SMITH
CLEVELAND (AP) — Mexico and the United States opened the Davis Cup American Zone tennis finals today with the top players of each team testing in the second singles match.

Dennis Ralston, 24-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., veteran of six Davis Cup competitions, is the No. 1 U. S. amateur. His opponent, close friend and former University of Southern California roommate, Rafael Osuna, 27, is Mexico's best and in his seventh year of Davis Cup play.

Their match was to follow an opening contest between Clark Graebner, of Beachwood, Ohio, and Joaquin Loyo-Mayo, a speedy 5-foot-6 lefthander from Vera Cruz. Each has been on his country's Davis Cup squad for two years, but neither previously played singles.

Graebner and Loyo-Mayo were to start warmups at 1:45 p.m. EDT. The same starting time will hold for Sunday's doubles and Monday's singles, which pair Ralston vs. Loyo-Mayo and then Graebner vs. Osuna.

Three victories in the best-of-five set matches are needed for zone championship and a trip to Brazil in October to play the next Davis Cup round.

The doubles partnerships have not yet been named by the team captains, but they could be the same foursome: Ralston-Graebner vs. Osuna and Loyo-Mayo. The U. S. captain, Evan MacCall, also is considering pairing Graebner with Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., eighth-ranked in singles but even more effective in doubles.

In the eight years between 1958 and 1965, five odds-on favorites were beaten in the Belmont Stakes.

Former Fighter McTigue Taken

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike McTigue, the Irishman who won the world light-heavyweight boxing championship from Battling Siki in Dublin on St. Patrick's Day in 1923, died Friday in Queens General Hospital after a long illness. He was 73.

A native of County Clare, Ireland, McTigue came to the United States after his victory over Siki and retained his title with a draw against Young Stribling in Columbus, Ga.

He lost the title on a decision to Paul Berlenbach in Yankee Stadium in 1925.

McTigue fought from 1914 through 1930. In 141 bouts he won 81, including 57 by knockouts, and lost 22. He fought six draws and 36 no decision bouts.

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta businessman Harry Berchenko said Friday he has been granted permission by the new U.S. Football League to establish a team in Atlanta, or Memphis, Tenn.

Toledo Drops 8th Straight

By The Associated Press

Somebody seems to have sprung a trap door under Toledo's Mud Hens. If they don't win a game soon, the Hens may set some sort of record for rapidity of descent in the International League standings.

Manager Loren Babe says he's "still loose and hopeful," but the sad fact is that in the last week the Mud Hens have plummeted from three games out of first place to three games out of seventh.

When Richmond beat Toledo 4-2 Friday night, it was the eighth consecutive loss for the Mud Hens since Aug. 5. And in the last five of these defeats they've scored a grand total of just eight runs.

Other Friday games saw resurgent Columbus maintain its one-game lead over Rochester by nudging Jacksonville, 2-1, while Rochester was clipping Buffalo, 6-2. Third place Toronto stayed four games back of the Jets by nosing out Syracuse, 5-4.

Sandy Alomar's two-run homer in the ninth inning carried Richmond - which had lost five in a row - past Toledo and cost the Mud Hens a chance to regain fourth place from Buffalo. But the game was much more costly to the Braves, who are only 1 1/2 games out of the first division.

Jim Beauchamp, a .317 batter who led the league in home runs with 25 and in RBI's with 78, suffered a broken wrist in a first-inning collision with Toledo's Wayne Comer and will be lost for the rest of the season.

Pitcher John Gelnar singled home a fifth-inning run that proved decisive and also twirled a six hitter for Columbus as the Jets held on to first place by capturing their fifth straight game.

Catcher Bruce Smith of Louisville will captain Dartmouth's 1967 baseball team.

Ohio Democratic Platform Group To End Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Democratic Platform Committee heard from labor and farm spokesmen Friday, and moved on to civil rights and other fields today.

Today's session was the scheduled windup of three days of hearings. The committee must have a platform ready to present to the Democratic state convention here in two weeks.

The Ohio AFL-CIO's spokesman Friday, in the absence of hospitalized President Frank W. King, was attorney Warren Smith. Among his suggestions was repeal of state laws banning strikes by city employees and teachers.

Earlier, Edward P. Dailey of Youngstown, regional director of the State, County and Municipal Employees Union, called for repeal.

Dailey pointed out that officials in Dayton, Youngstown and Toledo, where recent municipal employe walkouts occurred, did not enforce the laws. This, he said, indicates that the anti-strike laws don't work.

"To do away with the act entirely and write new legislation establishing the bargaining rights of public employes," he urged the platform makers.

Other legislation called for by Smith included measures to improve unemployment compensation, make state minimum wages the same as federal minimum wages and revise the state tax structure.

Auto Kills Woman

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Miss Judy Clark 22, of Washington R.D. 2 was killed Friday when a car rammed her parked auto as she walked behind it.

GAMMA RAYS

RADIUM

Saga of science

QUESTION: What is radium?

ANSWER: The year was 1896. Henri Becquerel, of Paris was experimenting with uranium salts, a material which, when exposed to sunlight, gave off a strange glow. Becquerel wanted to see if the salts would affect a photographic plate. Then it rained; there was no sunlight for his experiment. But he tried putting the salts on top of a plate wrapped in dark paper and was amazed to find the glow went through and exposed the plate (A). Other scientists were excited. Madame Curie took a ton of uranium ore and patiently began to refine it chemically. Finally, she got down to a very small amount of a substance, then unknown, which glowed in the dark. Madame Curie named the new element radium (B). Later it was found why the radium was glowing. The radium atoms were slowly breaking down, changing parts of themselves into energy, thus giving out light and heat. Three kinds of rays were being shot out - alpha, beta, and gamma (C).

FOR YOU TO DO: If you have a scrap book or articles and pictures about science, cut out this article and illustration and paste it in. If you do not have such a book, why not start one?

Michael Knaus of Auburn, N.Y., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
